

HOPE TO AROUSE FOREIGN ACTION.

Rebels Doom to Destruction Property of All Aliens.

Poisoned Water Forces Back Advancing Federals.

Bridge Across Sabina River Blown Up.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SABINAS, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Caught in an arid district with his army dependent upon a water supply already poisoned with cyanide of potassium, Federal Gen. Maas was compelled to suspend hostilities and return to Auna last night until communications can be established with the Sabina River, according to reports received at the Constitutionalists' headquarters this morning.

It is reported that all foreign-owned property, including the state's greatest resources, are in jeopardy for destruction if the Constitutionalists lose this district, and it is said something will be done to provoke international action.

DESTROY ALL PROPERTY.
Within an hour after the firing had ceased, the Constitutionalists decided to destroy every vestige of property, after which the entire army started north with the intention of making the final stand on the outskirts of this city. As soon as the soldiers arrived, the steel railroad bridge across the Sabina River was blown up with dynamite, entailing a loss of more than $200,000. The torch was then applied to the electric light plant and several railroad buildings and for a time it was feared that the entire town had been doomed to destruction.

EARTHWORKS CONSTRUCTED.
Earthworks have been constructed on the east bank of the river, giving the Constitutionalists a most advantageous position in attempting to stop the advance of the Federals.

Scouting parties returning from the vicinity of Auna report that the Federal army appear to be preparing for another march northward, but it will probably take a day or two to catch up with the Constitutionalists again. All of the soldiers who were captured during fighting at Auna are still lying unburied on the battlefield, and thousands of burials can be seen hastening to the front. It is estimated that 400 were killed on both sides, but the reports are contradictory. Word was received this afternoon that Col. Castro, with 1100 Constitutionalists from Matamoros, who are said to be coming to reinforce the retreating Carranzistas, had been about eighteen miles south of this city. Gen. Carranza, with his staff, left in automobiles this afternoon, to report Col. Castro back to Sabina, should the story of his coming really prove true.

REPORT OF TREASON.
A great sensation in military circles was caused today by the report that treason had been discovered among some of the higher Constitutionalists officers and there is a well-founded rumor in circles that the commander-in-chief general has been placed under arrest by his own men and will be tried by court-martial on the charge of betraying the cause. It is ready has been made public that Col. Murguía had been given supreme command over Gen. Pablo Gonzalez during this battle, but the cause of this unusual procedure had been kept secret.

When questioned regarding the truth or falsity of the allegation that some of his men had proven unreliable, Gen. Carranza declined to make any explanation except that the Constitutionalists were preparing to repulse the enemy under the command of generals who can be trusted. Hundreds of refugees made homeless by the burning of Aguila, Rosita Menor and Barroteran, are appealing to the army officials for food tonight. There is plenty of beef and goat meat, but corn and vegetables have disappeared from the markets. Most of the refugees are being sent to Eagle Pass in the hope that they will be provided for by the American people. All semblance of conducting the war on the basis of the international agreement has been cast aside and "dumdums" with crosses on them in the hands of the butchers being distributed among the troops.

Thus far, neither side has taken any prisoners and little mercy is expected to be shown when the final struggle comes.

REBELS BANISH CATHOLIC NUNS.

SISTERS OF INCARNATE WORD ARE DRIVEN OUT.

Adherents of Carranza Fail to Convince Persuasions to the Priests in Sonora—Defeated With Heavy Loss at Ortiz, Insurgents Are Becoming Discouraged.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NOGALES (Ariz.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The rebels of Sonora have not confined themselves in the persecution of the Catholics to the priests, but also have driven out the Sisters of the Incarnate Word, who have passed through here en route to San Antonio, Tex. Carranza appears as the irreconcilable enemy of the Catholic Church.

In recent fighting, Francisco Villa, rebel chief, was defeated at Madera, Chihuahua. Four hundred of his men surviving abandoned him, having lost all desire to follow him any farther. It is reported that the Villa was taken wounded in a closed automobile to a place near Palomas through the State of New Mexico.

"The rebels are very much discouraged. They tried today to advance toward Empalme, but were forced back to a point north of the Federal army, who thereupon advanced materially to the north. The Federal army then rendered terrible assistance and, at Tres Gatos, Maj. Escalera and Capt. Fernando Mendez, rebels, were killed by shots from cannon. The rebels, being shot away, the rebel toll of dead was heavy and they beat a wild retreat. It is expected that the rebels will be driven out of the Sonora rebellion.

A wrist-slapping affair has occurred in Hermosillo, a gallant rebel general administering a heroic reply to a gilded youth who objected to the rough presence of dangerous rebels in their regimental ranks. Their rebellious will be respected. Owing to large quantities of opium imported into the city, the Carranzistas have imposed a duty of fifty pesos the kilogram to help out toward paying the war expenses. It is believed a very large sum will be raised.

JAKOVA CAPTURED.

Albanians Take the City After Several Fighting—Another Town Also Falls Into Their Hands.

VIENNA, Sept. 29.—According to reports received here the Albanians captured Jakova only after heavy fighting. Prieder, a few miles to the south, is surrounded by Albanians and its fall is expected hourly. The Serbian garrison there consists of 600 men.

News from Avlona, on the Adriatic Sea, states that the Albanians have captured Orchrada after a fierce engagement.

Encourages the Road Builders.

Secretary Houston, of the Department of Agriculture, who told the good roads men in convention in Detroit yesterday that the Federal government in all probability will share the cost of new and improved interstate highways.

Solution Promised.

Washington has so many programmes for enormous expenditures on hand that the more conservative the highway betterment demands are the better. He declared himself in sympathy with the suggestion of a great transcontinental highway as well as for interstate roads, but showed his practical side by saying that "the essential thing to be done is the providing of good roads which shall get products from the community farms to the nearest station and make rural life more profitable, comfortable and pleasurable."

CANADIAN VIEW.
Deputy Minister Campbell of the Canadian government, in a short speech, took a similar stand. He explained that while some might consider it strange that a railway and canal official would appear at a national highway meeting, he believed most people would understand that "were it not for wagon roads the mighty ocean liners and the railway trains would not be needed."

THEIR MEETING.
This is the third meeting of the American Road Congress. It also is the most largely attended and enthusiastic. The trio of organizations that are directing the congress are the American Highway Association, American Automobile Association and the Michigan State Good Roads Association.

Some of the other participating bodies are: National Association of Road Builders, National Association of Manufacturers' Association, American Bar Association, which is interested in seeing State good roads laws codified and harmonized; National Education Association, through its committee on agricultural development and education; National Grange, National Old Farmers' Association; Lincoln Highway Association; Travelers' Protective Association; Quebec-Miami International Highway Association; Omaha, Lincoln and Denver Good Roads Association and Highway Associations of a score of States, including Illinois Highway Improvement Association and those of Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana and some of the Southern commonwealths.

The cement and automobile industries have large and interesting exhibitions at the Wayne Gardens, also many road machinery companies, and engineering, asphalt, wagon and a dozen other lines of trade or profession.

The Lincoln Highway Association, whose headquarters are in Detroit, is the promoter of the plan to build a road from New York to San Francisco, already has a tentative road mapped out and desires sections of the highway completed by the time of the opening of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Logan Waller Page, director United States office of Public Roads, is Vice-President of the American Road Congress, and one of the statements in his opening address this afternoon symbolizes the ideas and ideals of the organization he heads. He said: "I am informed that last year the people of the United States spent $216,000,000 to see moving pictures and the moving picture industry is a new one. The inclination for this form of diversion is, therefore, a recent acquisition, so that we have the spectacle of the American people suddenly spending for the gratification of a whim and amount very little less than our total indebtedness to the United States for the entire country, an amount sixty per cent greater than the annual outlay for road improvement and maintenance."

Mr. Page said that last year $200,000,000 went into the building of good roads in America.

The national road body is to be in session three days and will be followed by a meeting of the Michigan State Roads Association. Michigan is striving to head all other States with respect to smooth and hard highways and is making rapid progress to that goal.

course rendering it unimportant and restricting it to a mere tactical maneuver, with practically the whole Chinese revolutionary party under lock and key in Tokio, holds out her hand to England, knowing that the alliance is more important than ever."

EVERYBODY FOR HIMSELF.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] News of the withdrawal of the British government's support of the British unit of the American group studies keen interest in official circles here.

The breaking of the power of the international concert will lead directly to a scramble for concessions by the United States, and no doubt rival concession-hunting period of 1897 and 1898, one of the darkest pages in China's economic history. Without neck will a certain amount of control, the Chinese government will borrow from all comers, and it is to be believed, will barter valuable concessions right and left.

People who know China feel sure that if left without restraint the Chinese government will head straight for financial chaos which would bring on more quickly than anything else rebellion and internal warfare, the dread intervention by the powers, and in the case of certain powers, at least, intervention will mean permanent occupation.

Another apparently inevitable outcome of total freedom of action on the part of China during the present period of transition is a renewal of the perilous "sphere of influence"—Russia in Manchuria and Mongolia, Japan in South Manchuria and Inner Mongolia, England in the Yangtze Valley, Germany in Shanghai and the Hinterland back to Shanai and Shensi, and France in Yunnan. Each nation will claim its right to all concessions in its respective sphere and there will be great international competition and probably friction, just as in the past.

It is considered that this will lead to conditions making intervention almost inevitable.

One interesting feature is the effect of England's withdrawal on Japan, Great Britain's ally. The re-establishment of spheres of influence, with the probability of European nations obtaining a territorial foothold in China, looms up, is farthest from the minds of the British.

All of the reasons for the British attitude are not clear. It is not an actual danger. Certainly it will afford more commercial competition. In the opinion of the Washington officials, the success of the Belgians in the hands of the Chinese, acting on the advice of Secretary Bryan, was distinguished to give the diplomatic support of this government to a private enterprise of the bankers, particularly when those bankers included the National City Bank, and when they made it a condition of their cooperation that the administration should ask them to do so.

The quintuple concert was composed of groups of leading financial institutions of France, Germany, Russia and Japan. Formerly an American group consisting of J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn Loeb & Co. and the City National Bank, and the First National Bank, participants, but when President Wilson refused to give diplomatic support to any group of financiers, the American group withdrew from the combination.

BRITAIN QUILTS LOAN CONCERT.

(BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The British government announced today the dissolution of the Chinese loan agreement from which the United States withdrew its support some time ago. The government had not worked to the satisfaction of any of the five powers concerned—Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan.

"The British government took the initiative in the dissolution," it is explained, "because of the failure of the other powers to observe its spirit."

"They had made the agreement simply an instrument against the interests of British financiers."

The five powers will still act together in making loans to the Chinese government for general administrative purposes, but each of the powers has been left free to support any of its citizens in floating loans for railroads and other industrial projects and for provincial purposes.

The decision is pointed out here, was to prevent an international scramble to lend China money, but such a scramble is in progress.

BREWER GETS HIS TRUNKS.

Charged With Failing to Declare Dutiable Goods, St. Louis Man Was Held Up.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—By the payment of $450, the home value of the goods and hats worn by his wife and daughter, Henry Nicholas, a wealthy St. Louis brewer, today obtained the release from customs stores of twelve trunks seized last Saturday when he failed to declare dutiable goods and jewelry valued at $4000. Examination of the baggage disclosed that the only articles which Mr. Nicholas failed to mention in his declaration were the goods and hats, purchased abroad which were being worn by his wife and daughter.

Treasury Department Rules Stock and Fuel Can Be Taken Into Mexico Without Restriction.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Horses and saddles, hay and other feed intended for the Mexican Federal army or the revolutionists are not munitions of war and may be exported from the United States into Mexico without restriction. This decision was given today by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Hamlin, in interpreting the President's proclamation of March 4, 1912, forbidding the exportation of munitions of war.

Mr. Hamlin followed an opinion by Atty.-Gen. McInerney, which held that munitions of war made contraband by the proclamation were "articles manufactured and primarily and ordinarily used for military purposes in time of war."

HITS CURRENT INDUSTRY.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The new tariff on Zante currants is fixed at 1½ cents per pound. This was the rate in the conference tariff report to Congress today.

Representatives Raker and Church made a desperate fight to have the rate increased to 2 cents, but were unable to persuade the conferees to change the 1½-cent rate. Senators Saulsbury of Delaware and Pittman of Nevada, both of whom have, they assert, many Greek constituents, opposed Raker and Church's efforts for the California product. These Senators were backed by the Greek Minister here, as Greece is the principal competitor of the California Zante currants.

The State Department took a hand against the California industry, on demand of the Greek Minister. The Payne tariff fixed 1½ cents per pound, so that the Democrats have poured the Zante currant business of Fresno, Kern and Kings counties by removing 1 cent of the present protection, which will enable Greek importers to compete more successfully with California growers.

DISMISS CASE OF GIRL ELOPERS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 29.—At the request of Superior Judge Peter J. Shields, one of the presiding officers of the Juvenile Court of Sacramento county, members of the Probation committee tonight dropped all proceedings against the elopement of Mary L. Diggs, and F. Drew Cammelt, in the sensational elopement to Reno, after a stormy meeting.

A. Bonheim, chairman of the committee, accused Assistant Probation Officer William Cook of being derelict in his duty, in not having the Warrington and Norris girls on hand, R. J. Carragher, City Commissioner, charged that her fellow members of the committee were "passing the buck."

Commissioner Shields said that the committee was being made a joke of in the Warrington-Norris matter and tendered his resignation to Judge Shields.

Judge Shields asked Carragher to reconsider his action and Carragher finally decided to remain a member.

Mrs. W. H. Moreland said that all persons brought before the Probation committee looked alike to her and she did not see why any particular case should be shown the Warrington or Norris girls.

Judge Shields said that in his opinion the girls and their relatives had been pushed aside.

"How about the two girls now in institutions and placed there by this committee after we found that they had been racing around with Maury Diggs?" the bishop's wife asked heatedly.

"What about the girl whom we found had stayed with Diggs in his office all night? She was before this committee and was punished."

"The bishop's wife was every bit as respectful as the relatives of these girls," continued Mrs. Moreland.

Carragher seconded Mrs. Moreland.

Mrs. Greene said that if Carragher had shown as much solicitude for the welfare of the girls several months ago as he did tonight, the case would probably not be before the committee.

When the matter came to a vote it stood 4 to 4. A. Bonheim then changed his vote, and the motion to dismiss charges was carried.

"You voted 4," cried Mrs. Moreland to Bonheim.

WILL VISIT THE FARMERS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The House Banking and Currency Committee will meet tomorrow to map out an outline of work for the rest of the present extraordinary session and for the regular session of Congress, meeting next month.

The committee, although it has completed the handling of the banking and currency bill, will continue to be unusually active.

The committee tomorrow will be divided into three subcommittees to take up, first agricultural lands, second, the guarantee of bank deposits, and third, a complete reorganization of the national banking law. These subcommittees will be organized with the idea of making reports coupled with recommendations for legislation to the next session.

A resolution will be presented in the House this week authorizing the Subcommittee on Agriculture, to hold sessions outside of Washington. This will be done to enable the subcommittee to start at once a trip of investigation in typical agricultural sections, selected by the Department of Agriculture, with the trip, as suggested by officials of the Department of Agriculture, will start from St. Paul, Minn., and the investigation will be of a general nature, covering all sections of the Northwest.

Because of the short period intervening between the sessions of the regular session, the trip, as suggested, will be limited to thirty days or less. It is planned to investigate, in a general manner, typical agricultural sections in every part of the country. Chairman Glass and the House Banking and Currency Committee will visit the farmers in their own homes and gain first-hand impressions of the agricultural situation.

The Department of Agriculture already has laid the groundwork for the preliminary agricultural credit investigation. A series of questions, prepared under the direction of Secretary of Agriculture, have been sent to the various departments of the government, supplemented by the Bureau of Census, and the results are now being made in the State universities and State departments of Agriculture. The answers to the questions sent out by the Department of Agriculture are now being made available for the members of the committee of the Banking and Currency Committee.

Chairman Glass and the members of the Banking and Currency Committee are in no way wayward in the guarantee of bank deposits, in the reorganization of the national banking laws is made necessary, in the opinion of Chairman Glass, by reason of the proposed new banking act, and in addition, it is stated that particular attention will be paid to the reorganization of the national sections of the banking law.

State Convention Favors Federation of Fatherland at Pan-American Conference.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—The German-American community of fraternal and social organizations of the State convened yesterday for the annual session of the German-American League of California. The delegates went on record as favoring participation by the Fatherland in the Panama-Pacific Exposition, a convention was named to work with the aim in view.

John Herman was re-elected for the ninth consecutive year and was elected to the State of California, St. Louis convention. He was designated to invite the German-American community to the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1915.

INSPECTION OF BOOKS.

The conference also amended that the conference of the German-American League of California, in addition to submitting their books to American customs agents, so that if the exporter should allow such examination an additional tariff duty of 10 per cent ad valorem can be imposed on his exports.

The conference agreement repeals the section eight of the Cuban reciprocity treaty, which provided that Cuba should have a preferential rate of 20 per cent on sugar, and that the general tariff of the United States should not be reduced below the figure of the Dingley tariff law of 1897.

The section of the House bill which would have thrown outside the civil service the administrative for a period of three years was changed by the Conference Committee. In its new form it provides that the grade of the income of division, "below the grade of division," must still be selected under civil service rules, and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, under the rules fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The new provision of the income tax, allowing a $4000 exemption for a married person, and a deduction of $4000 shall be made from the aggregate income of both husband and wife, when living together.

REPUBLICANS BALK.

After a brief discussion it was approved by the eight Democrats, while the six Republicans who had taken part in the conference, refused to sign the report.

Senator Follette, one of the Republicans who voted for the bill in the Senate, announced to the conference that he did not decline to approve of the report because of prejudice against it, but because he

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The conference report of the Underwood-Simons tariff bill, representing the final adjustment of disputes between the Senate and House over the former amendments, was made public early today when the Democratic managers submitted it for the first time to their Republican colleagues on the Conference Committee.

In the form in which the tariff bill ultimately will go to President Wilson for his signature, it carries many changes from the original Underwood bill passed by the House last May. While the Senate gave way on many of its amendments, in the two weeks' fight in the Conference Committee, many important changes were retained, and the general average of rates of the House bill was reduced about 4 per cent ad valorem.

IMPORTANT ALTERATIONS.

In a summary of the agreements that have been informally announced from day to day during the conference work, the report shows the following important alterations of the original Underwood House bill:

The tax rate on incomes above $75,000 was increased by a graduated scale from 3 per cent to 7 per cent. The tax rate on incomes above $100,000 was increased from $1000 to $1500. Added to the free list include pig iron, ferro-manganese ore, cheap grades of iron nails and other foodstuffs, animal, wheat, flour, fax, sugar-refining machinery, school textbooks, and blast machinery, indigo, photographic materials, various films, cement, asphalt and many other articles.

A classification for wool of the stockings, gloves and mitts changes a reduction from the House rate on those valued at less than $1.20 a dozen and increase on those above. Angora, mohair, and other wools were given a higher duty than in the House bill.

The House rate on silk ribbons and narrow fabrics was increased from 40 per cent to 45 per cent, while the rate on common paper box boards and paper used in the manufacture of photographic prints were reduced. An increased rate of duty was provided for photographic views of American scenes and the rate on surface boxes was increased from 35 per cent to 40 per cent.

Reduction in the House duties was made on wearing apparel of cattle or dog skin, fur hats, rough forms of dog and goat skins, goat skins, press cloth for use in cotton oil mills and through a reclassification, rates on the House bill were reduced from 35 per cent to 30 per cent on cotton cloth. The House rate on cotton stockings and half-hose was also reduced.

Reductions in the House rates in the chemical schedule covered petroleum and medicinal waxes, crude olefin, linseed oil, turpentine, and several other items, while the House rates were increased on many of the acids and on some classes of paints.

The Senate succeeded in raising the House rates on high-power lenses, surveying instruments, telescopes and the like. Most of the other changes reducing the rates on iron and steel products were approved by the Conference Committee, and the rates were considerably lower on the average than of the original House bill.

The tariff on automobiles, fixed by the House at 45 per cent ad valorem, was finally committed by making a new classification. The new rate was fixed at 35 per cent, for which a rate of 30 per cent was fixed.

Some of the more important changes agreed to by the conference covered the schedule of German-American products and provisions. In addition to reducing the rates on sugar, the free list of the conference included reductions on oats, butter, beans, extracts of meats, currants, chocolate and other provisions and vegetables.

The 5 per cent ad valorem in tariff made by the House bill on goods brought in American ships was retained in the conference report, and the provision that it should not be so construed as to abrogate or in any manner impair or affect the provisions of any treaty the United States now has.

INSPECTION OF BOOKS.

The conference also amended that the conference of the German-American League of California, in addition to submitting their books to American customs agents, so that if the exporter should allow such examination an additional tariff duty of 10 per cent ad valorem can be imposed on his exports.

SAYS AMERICAN SOLDIERS TRESPASSED IN MEXICO.

Juarez Military Commander Declares Ten Troopers of the Second Cavalry Pursued Woodcutters Two Miles Across the Border and Shows Hat Said to Have Been Lost by Alleged Invaders.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

L. PABO (Tex.) Sept. 29.—That ten American cavalrymen of Troop H, Second Cavalry, crossed into Mexico last Saturday and began shooting at three Mexican woodcutters, is the version of the international shooting incident near San Eliairio, which has been given out by the Federal officials of Juarez. To prove their assertions, Col. Juan N. Vasquez, military commander of Juarez, showed a hat which one of the United States soldiers is alleged to have lost, adding that the three woodcutters returned the fire and forced the Americans to retreat to the American side.

In one report of the affair received by the Federal officials of Juarez, it was said that three Mexican line riders assisted the woodcutters in driving the American soldiers off after the shooting began.

CALLS THEM TRESPASSERS.

"The American soldiers, as proven by the hat in the possession of the military authorities of Juarez, trespassed on Mexican territory," said Inspector of Mexican Consulates Miguel E. Diebold, in a statement issued tonight. "In their hurried departure they left the hat about two miles from the border."

The account of the occurrence that reached this city from San Eliairio Saturday night, stated that the American soldiers were on duty on the American side of the border when the Mexican Federal cavalry appeared on the Mexican side and opened fire on them without warning or provocation.

SEARCH THE WAGON.

The soldiers finally caught up to the woodcutters. It is alleged, and searched the wagon. Then, it is said, they allowed the woodcutters to depart, but as the Mexicans started all the soldiers began shooting at them. The woodcutters were armed with rifles and immediately returned the fire.

The account of the occurrence that reached this city from San Eliairio Saturday night, stated that the American soldiers were on duty on the American side of the border when the Mexican Federal cavalry appeared on the Mexican side and opened fire on them without warning or provocation.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL

Every person interested in owning or furnishing a home should read the Home Building and Furnishing Number of the Semi-Monthly Magazine, which will be issued free with next Sunday's Times.

The twenty pages of the magazine will be devoted to picturing and describing the ideal home for city or country. The house and grounds will be done in color, and the practical and decorative features of the house, pergola, garden and garage will be given special attention.

Everything impractical and all excessive costs have been eliminated from the plan that will be pictured, and the attractive figure that the home and grounds may be built and laid out for will appeal to many who contemplate owning an ideal home.

Bear in mind that this splendid number of the Semi-Monthly Magazine, which will be valuable for future reference, will be free with the issue of The Times of Sunday, October 5.

END DOCTORING OF TARIFF BILL.

Conference Committee Agrees on Important Change.

Republican Members Refuse to Sign the Report.

General Average of Rates Is Cut Four Per Cent.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The conference report of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill, representing the final adjustment of disputes between the House and Senate, was made public early today when the Democratic majority admitted it for the first time to their public colleagues on the conference committee.

In the form in which the tariff bill ultimately will go to President Wilson for his signature, it carries many changes from the original Underwood bill passed by the House last May.

The Senate gave way on many of its amendments in the two weeks' fight in the conference committee, but the most important changes were the reduction of the general average of rates of the House bill by four per cent.

IMPORTANT ALTERATIONS.

In a summary of the alterations that have been informally announced from day to day during the conference work, the report shows the following important alterations of the original Underwood House bill:

The tax rate on incomes above $75,000 was increased by a graduated scale from 3 per cent. to 7 per cent.

The tax rate on incomes above $100,000 was increased from $400 to $200.

Articles added to the free list include pig iron, ferro-manganese ore, cheap grades of iron, and other food staples, wheat, flour, flax, hemp, paper-making machinery, school texts and blast machinery, indigo, photographic moving pictures, cement, asphalt and many other articles.

A classification for wool of the medium, gloves and mittens makes a reduction from the House rate on wool valued at less than $120 a bale and on those above, $120 a bale, and articles made from wool, given a higher duty than in the House bill.

The House rate on silk ribbons and narrow fabrics was increased from 10 per cent. to 45 per cent., while the House rates on common paper boxes and papers used for book covers were reduced.

An increase of duty was provided for the various views of American scenes and the rate on surface-laid papers suitable for covering boxes was increased from 35 per cent. to 40 per cent.

Reduction in the House duties was made on wearing apparel of cattle or furs, hats, fur hats, forms of fur and goat skins, camel's hair, and cloth for use in cotton oil mills.

A slightly reclassification, rates fixed by the House, of fancy goods of cotton cloth. The House rate on cotton stockings and half-hose was reduced.

Reductions in the House rates in the chemical schedule covered petroleum and medicinal soaps, crude oil, kerosene, chlorate of potash and several other items, while the House rates were increased on many kinds of acids and on some classes of paints.

The Senate succeeded in raising the House rates on high-power lenses, surveying instruments, telescopes and the like. Most of the Senate changes reducing the rates on iron and steel products were approved by the Conference Committee, making the rates considerably lower on the average than those of the original House bill.

The tariff on automobiles, fixed by the House at 45 per cent. and reduced by the Senate, was finally compromised by making a new classification, automobiles valued below $1000, for which a rate of 30 per cent. was fixed.

Some of the more important changes agreed to by the conference were the reduction of the rates on products and provisions. In addition to putting cattle and sheep on the free list, the House bill provided for reductions on oats, butter, beefs, exports of meats, currants, chocolate and other provisions and vegetables.

The 5 per cent. rebate in tariff made by the House bill on goods brought in American ships was reduced in the conference with the addition of a provision that it should not be construed as to abrogate or in any manner impair or affect the provisions of any treaty of the United States now in force.

INSPECTION OF BOOKS.

The conference also amended that portion of the House bill requiring book manufacturers or exporters to submit their books to American customs agents, so that if the exporter refused to allow such examination an additional tariff duty of 15 per cent. ad valorem could be imposed on his exports.

The conference agreement repeals section eight of the Cuban reciprocity treaty, which provided that Cuba should have a preferential rate of 20 per cent. on sugar, and that the general sugar tariff of the United States would not be reduced below the figure of the Dingley tariff law of 1897.

The section of the House bill which would have thrown outside the civil service the entire force of income tax administrators for a period of two years was changed by the Conference Committee. In its new form it provides for the internal revenue of the United States, "below the grade of chief of division," concerned with the income tax, must still be selected from the civil service rules. Those outside may be appointed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, under rules fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The new provision of the income tax, granting a $4000 exemption for a married person, provides "that no deduction of $4000 shall be made from the aggregate income of both husband and wife, when living together."

REPUBLICANS BALK.

After a brief discussion it was agreed by the eight Democrats, while no part in the conference deliberations was refused to sign the report.

Senator La Follette, one of the Republican conference who voted for the bill in the Senate, announced that he did not intend to approve the report because of prejudice against it, but because he had not been consulted in the preparation of the agreement.

Two amendments were offered by minority members of the Conference Committee, but both were rejected by the Democrats. Representative Murdock, Progressive, moved that the House accept the Clarke cotton futures tax; while Representative Fordney, Republican, offered an amendment to extend from March to June, 1914, the time when the new sugar tariff becomes effective.

Representatives Fordney, Murdock and Payne, and Senators Penrose and La Follette did not sign the conference report. Senator Lodge was absent.

No definite agreement had been reached by the Democratic Conference Committee members today as to what should be done with the cotton futures question; but it was expected that when a second conference is arranged on the amendment it may be dropped from the bill. While President Wilson has favored the proposed compromise plan advanced by House leaders, he made it clear to the Senate that he would not insist on its being put in the bill.

UNDERWOOD OFFERS REPORT.

Majority Leader Underwood presented the conference report as soon as the House met. He explained that members might wish to debate the bill before it is taken up for a vote, but that the conference committee had agreed to an agreement by which the House will meet at 11 o'clock instead of noon tomorrow.

"After the report is acted upon," said Mr. Underwood, "we expect to take up and act on the Senate amendment relating to cotton futures, which is the only thing in disagreement between the two houses."

The conference report did not appear in the Senate at today's session and Senator Kern secured unanimous consent that today's adjournment of the Senate should extend until Wednesday. By that time it is expected the House will have disposed of the report.

Two hours a side for debate was set for the House Republican leaders hoped for, with a probability that the cotton futures amendment would consume as much more.

Immediately after adjournment Representative Payne, acting Republican leader, with the latest print of the bill in his possession, began a systematic inquiry into its vital parts. He probably will make the principal speech in opposition to the adoption of the report.

Mr. Underwood today told inquiries he expected the Senate to act on the report by Thursday.

AMERICAN GUNNERY.

Honolulu Forts Firing at Small Targets in Ocean Make Great Records.

Attack on Harbor Repelled.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

HONOLULU, Sept. 29.—Night firing tests conducted during the last week by the new forts here were highly satisfactory, according to Brig-Gen. Frederick Funston.

Fort Ruger's fourteen-inch mortar, fired at a small target in the ocean 8000 yards distant, scored thirteen hits in twenty shots. Fort Kamehameha, firing under the same conditions, hit the target sixteen times in twenty shots. This latter score is believed by army men here to be a record. Fort Delussay, firing with guns, made ten hits out of fourteen shots.

In a mimic warfare, the maneuvers taking the form of an attack on the island, the assaults were repelled at all points. The principal attack was directed against Pearl Harbor.

Troops from Hankow Are Being Sent Into District to Guard Americans—Eight Foreigners Said to Be in Power of the Robbers, Who Control the District.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, Sept. 29.—A missionary's telegram received at Hankow today from Fan Cheng, in the north of the province of Hu Peh, says:

On Friday bandits looted and still hold the town of Tso Yang. Eight missionaries, according to apparently authentic reports, were captured by them.

There is a missionary station at Fan Cheng belonging to the Hauges Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran synod of America. The station is occupied by five men and six women.

Edward T. Williams, Charge d'Affaires of the American Legation, made representations to the Chinese government today calling for the protection of American missionaries.

At the request of J. Paul Jameson, Acting American Consul at Hankow, Gen. Yen Heng, Vice-President of the Chinese Republic, is sending troops to the district, but Tso Yang is a long distance from Hankow.

The mission station at Tso Yang belongs to the Lutheran Brethren of Wahpegon, N. D., and is composed of two men and four women. Their names, according to the latest records, are: The Rev. Reinhold Killen and wife, the Rev. M. W. Ordahl, Miss Ida Waless, Miss Caroline Rasmussen and Miss Marie Harstad.

The latest list of the members of the Hauges Norwegian mission at Fan Cheng contains the names of the Rev. Sterekdadt and wife, R. W. Anderson, M. A., M. D., Miss Olive Hednefeld, Miss Carrie Olson, Miss Anna Nason and Miss Anna Lee.

Under Secretary of English Board of Trade Denounces Ulster Provisional Government.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The under secretary of the Board of Trade, J. M. Robertson, speaking at Newcastle tonight, said that Sir Edward Carson's provisional government was an economic blunder and a practical impossibility which could be ended by the British postoffice cutting it off from the rest of the world.

The under secretary declared that Sir Edward Carson was not prosecuted for the reason that "the government did not wish to make King Carson, Saint Carson."

BOOST ORANGES, NOT POLITICS.

Duckworth and Brown Invade National Capital.

San Bernardino Postoffice? "No, Sir," They Say.

Citrus Fruit Only Thought of the Two Pilgrims.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] T. W. Duckworth of San Bernardino, and C. M. Brown of Redlands, are here interviewing orange buyers and members of Congress and meeting friends generally. Both declare that the matter of the postoffice at San Bernardino has nothing to do with their visit, oh, quite nothing at all you know, some one has been writing "funny things" to the Times, drawing on their imagination for their material and indulging in vain vapors, and so on, but take it from Mr. Duckworth, there is really nothing to the statement that the two pilgrims came on here to head off Martin for postmaster and to win over Kettner to his aid. Why, the commission of the incumbent, Mr. Brown, is for some time yet, and while Duckworth is a candidate, oh, yes, he admits that, there will be nothing doing in the way of active candidature for some months yet. Of course he saw Caminetti, his backer, and Kettner, who isn't, and Church and Baker, who stand with Kettner, but it was more in the way of a friendly call than anything else, don't you know. Now as to oranges, here is where Brown comes in. He is making his usual periodical trip to meet the trade and see what the conditions are in the financial world.

Duckworth just happened to come along and the political feature of the trip is merely incidental. Brown, who is an independent in the orange business, finds that the whole country is hungry for good California oranges, and that there will be no trouble to sell all that he can get hold of this season. Buyers are anxious to place orders and it is likely that the price will be very satisfactory to the growers. The old crop is about cleaned up and it will be six weeks before the new crop begins to move. As for lemon, they will be very scarce.

"I talked with a number of Senators today about the lemon situation," said Brown, "and they tell me that if they find that the new crop is low, they will be in favor of increasing it. I regret that Congress has seen fit to cut it down so much. It will be a heavy blow to our growers."

EXPECT TROUBLE FROM STRIKERS

Judge Dissolves Injunction Against Calumet Union.

State Troops on the Alert to Prevent Violence.

Demonstrations by Miners Alarm Authorities.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CALUMET (Mich.) Sept. 29.—Circuit Judge O'Brien dissolved the temporary injunction today against picketing and parading by copper mine strikers and Gen. Abbey of the State troops and Sheriff Cruse made preparations tonight to handle expected activities of the strikers tomorrow morning. Picketing was resumed generally throughout the district tonight. Noisy demonstrations in celebration of their injunction victory were held by the strikers at the Keeweenaw county mines.

The Ahmeek Mining Company will be the first of the Calumet and Hecla subsidiary companies to use imported workmen. A trainload arrived here tonight. Another party of workmen has been added to the force already on hand at the Quincy mine and preparations are being made for others.

According to output figures today, little increase in production was shown over that of a week ago.

In dissolving the temporary injunction, Judge O'Brien said that he considered the injunction too broad and sweeping. He held that the rights of the defendants are important and should not be interfered with without a public hearing.

Judge O'Brien declared he stands ready to protect the rights of persons who want to work, but at the same time he felt the strikers had a right to organize and to make an effort to persuade others peacefully to refrain from working for the purpose of strengthening the position of the strikers.

The court said he was inclined to issue a restraining order covering only violence and intimidation, but that he did not think it should cover picketing, which was debated by the court. Argument will be heard on this point.

BAY CITY'S ELECTION.

San Francisco Voters Complete Preparations for Today's Primary Fight at the Polls.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Registration for the primary elections tomorrow was 143,000 tonight and the City Registrar estimated that the total vote tomorrow from 473 precincts would be between 75,000 and 80,000.

There are sixty-three candidates in the field for nine Supervisors, nine candidates for two police court judges, four candidates for City Attorney, three for City Treasurer, seven for Tax Collector, four for Recorder, and three for Public Administrator.

The election is non-partisan and although the various candidates have made vigorous personal campaigns, there has been little discussion of their merits in the newspapers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Sept. 29.—S. C. Hulse, superintendent of the La Bodega dam project in Chihuahua, arrived today with a party of American refugees. En route, Hulse's automobile was seized by Pancho Villa and a coach given the Americans instead. Hulse says work at La Bodega is suspended because no supplies or materials can be secured as a result of disturbances.

With him were Mrs. Hulse, G. G. Underhill, superintendent of construction, John Pincus of New York City; Herman Froese and wife, San Antonio, Tex.; J. B. Perkins and wife, El Paso; and Mr. and Mrs. James, Los Angeles, and B. S. Fleming.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORT JERVIS (N. Y.) Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Harriet Carr, who on June 20 last, was notified she had fallen heir to the property of Cecil Reed, who died in 1912, at his home in Los Angeles, valued at more than $10,000, left this city this morning for Buffalo, N. Y., where on Friday she will be married to Moses Swartz, a wealthy Kentuckian, who has an extensive plantation in that State. Mrs. Carr has twice been married, Jacob Van Gordon being her first husband.

Three years ago when for the second time she became a widow, she returned to Port Jervis and took up humble quarters. Three months ago she was apprised of the legacy from Reed, a wealthy bachelor of Los Angeles, consisting of a house and tract of land two miles from Los Angeles, and personal property. Reed, when a young man, was befriended by the Van Gordons.

After the death of David Carr, the wife of Moses Swartz, also died, and he came North to visit an aunt. He met and proposed to Mrs. Carr, but she declined. Later, she wrote to Swartz, asking him to visit Los Angeles in her behalf as to the property of Cecil Reed, who died in 1912, and asked for her hand in marriage and she accepted.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Timothy L. Woodruff, former Lieutenant Governor of New York, was stricken tonight at Carnegie Hall just as he concluded an address at the fusionist notification meeting. Physicians who attended Mr. Woodruff announced that he suffered a stroke of paralysis and said condition was serious.

As he was speaking, Mr. Woodruff turned to John Purroy Mitchell, the fusionist candidate for Mayor, and complained of a pain in his knee. The old crop is about cleaned up and it will be six weeks before the new crop begins to move. As for lemon, they will be very scarce.

Remarkable Showing of Oriental Rugs

WITH all the knowledge of his 30 years of buying our Mr. Mihran has levied upon all the Eastern centers for characteristic examples of Oriental Rugs and has gathered together a superb collection ranging from modestly priced little pieces to the larger and rarer carpet size rugs worthy of the collector's attention.

THE display opens today continuing for two weeks. We cannot emphasize too strongly the remarkable character of this our latest importation. In size, quality, wonderful colorings it is the most important collection of master-pieces of the Eastern loom ever brought to Los Angeles.

NOT the least noteworthy are the larger size carpet pieces—marvels of beauty and workmanship—as splendid in rich subdued colorings as the delicate tracery work of the Alhambra.

OUR importations have been unusually heavy this season and during the two weeks of this exhibit in order to lighten the burden imposed by a large stock extremely reasonable prices will prevail.

YOU will be made welcome whether you come to buy or not.

By E. Alexander Powell, F.R.G.S.

Nowhere has the white man fought a more courageous fight or won a more brilliant victory than in Arizona. His weapons have been the transit and the level, the drill and the dredge, the pick and the spade, and the enemy which he has conquered has been the most stubborn of all foes: the hostile forces of Nature. Twelve years ago, E. Alexander Powell, F. R. G. S., went into Arizona and observed a region of sand and sage-brush and cactus; snakes and lizards and coyotes; fighting cattlemen and sheepmen. The other day he went through the new State and found, where before he had seen sunbaked, forbidding desert, sleek dairy cattle grazing knee-deep in alfalfa and groves ablaze with golden fruit. Mr. Powell has lived in reclaimed regions of Egypt, Mesopotamia and parts of the Sudan, and he has the world-wide view of the wonders which have been wrought by Americans in the Arizona country. His article, which leads the October number, is illustrated, in color, with paintings representing the three periods of Arizona history—the aboriginal Indian, the exploratory or Spanish, and the reclamation or American.

SULZER SCORES TRIPLE VICTORY

Evidence Barred on Deal With Assemblymen

Find Missing Wall Street "Dummy" in Sanatorium

Agrees to Testify Regarding Governor's "Flyer"

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] ALBANY, Sept. 29.—Gov. Sulzer won a triple victory today as he scored on the impeachment of the Governor, the introduction of evidence intended to prove that the Governor has made a corrupt bargain with Assemblymen, and the testimony brought forward to show that he had made similar bargains with Assemblymen of Orange county and Assemblyman Prima of Albany.

The legislation had to do with the case with highway and bridge improvements provided for in the bill passed by the Legislature, in which the Assemblymen were charged with getting the Governor's signature to the bill, however, the bill was brought in the articles of impeachment, and of this ground Sulzer threw a charge out.

The Sweet and Prineas cases specified in article seven of the impeachment, charging that the Governor had received one and agreed to other bill. One Assemblyman failed to support the Governor's right primary bill and the other all so after consulting Sulzer, the managers charged.

SWEET'S TESTIMONY. Assemblyman Sweet, testified that when he urged the Governor to approve his bill he was asked whether he had voted for the direct primary bill, which had been defeated in the regular session of the Legislature.

"I told him I voted against it," said the witness.

The primary bill was to come again at the extraordinary session in July, and the Governor would know how Sweet proposed to vote at that time, Sweet said he would insure the safety of your valuables, at moderate cost. Boxes may be rented at $2.50 upward per year.

"According to the settlement in the interest of my district."

To this, according to Sweet, the Governor replied with advice to his personal counsel, Valentin Taylor, and "smooth him the way."

"Did you smooth him?" asked Attorney Brackett of counsel for the impeachment managers.

"I didn't have to," replied the witness, who explained that Taylor had sent him to John H. Delaney, chairman of the Department of Education, who prepared a favorable report on his bill.

"What happened to your bill?" asked Attorney Brackett.

"It was vetoed," replied the witness.

"How did you vote on the primary bill at the regular session?"

The defense objected to the question.

"Objection sustained," ruled Judge Cullen. "He has already said he voted against the bill, and if this witness was already against the bill it showed he did not receive the aid of a corrupt bargain."

INVALIDATES CHARGE. On practically the same ground Judge Cullen held that the charge in connection with the Prineas case, which was introduced by the managers, was that at the regular session of the Legislature it is understood that the Governor had received one and agreed to other bill.

With the introduction of evidence of three more campaign contributions not reported in the Governor's statement of campaign receipts, and of more evidence concerning the Governor's alleged Wall Street speculations, the Assembly managers announced that with the calling of the case against the Governor, possibly two more contributions would be introduced.

The long-losing Frederick L. Colwell, the Governor's alleged "dummy" in Wall Street transactions, is a senator, according to counsel for the Governor, but will appear as a witness as the Governor's witness.

It was stipulated that he will not be permitted to testify as to the Governor's alleged Wall Street speculations, the Assembly managers agreed to this stipulation.

BROKEN TO TESTIFY. If a subpoena can be served upon him, J. B. Gray of the stock exchange firm of Fuller & Gray, where the Governor is alleged to have speculated with some of his campaign contributions, will be a witness.

Thus far Colwell has been unable to locate him. His partner, Arthur L. Fuller, who was on the stand today, said Mr. Gray had been making an effort to evade service.

Fuller and his employees gave testimony today tending to show that Colwell had purchased stock through Fuller & Gray for which was paid $17,000 in cash.

Just at the close of the session the Assembly managers introduced evidence a bank account of Frederick L. Colwell, a contractor and railroad builder, for the Cuban government, who recently announced that he had loaned Gov. Sulzer $25,000 in cash. Reilly had relations with Fuller and the latter was chairman of the Finance and Affairs Committee in Congress. He may be a witness tomorrow.

FIRE AT MIDNIGHT. Hardware Store Damaged by Fire. Believed to Have Started From Electric Wiring.

Apparently originating from defective wiring, a fire party destroyed the stock of the Reamons Hardware Company at No. 440 South Main street shortly after midnight.

Fire apparatus arrived in morning to prevent serious damage. The store is in the Canadian building owned by J. P. Stockdale, the head of the company operating the business at the corner of Main and Broadway.

Neither the owner of the building nor the owner of the store was in the city at this time.

Both families were at the store at the time of the fire. The fire first broke out in the rear of the store and spread to the main part of the store, giving the appearance of a big fire.

Comparatively little damage was done by water, but the estimated total loss to building and contents.

Plan Is to Stop Tariff Bill Unless They Yield.

Western Men Sure to Win the Brandy Tax Fight.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The California grape brandy fight has been in the pamphlet stage now for some time, and tomorrow the filibustering stage will begin, for the Ohio men let it be known today that they would fight to the last ditch, and perhaps they would after the last ditch was reached, for after the last ditch was reached, they will be up and at it again as soon as the long session opens in December.

Senator Fomereau announced today that he would be fighting the tariff bill on the floor of the Senate Wednesday and prevent it from passing as long as possible, or until the amendment he fathers was accepted. In the House today, the Ohio men met in the office of Gen. Sherwood and agreed on a course of action to embarrass the opponents of the Fomereau amendment when the bill comes up for action tomorrow.

It will be a filibuster, all right, but there seems to be much smaller chance for the Ohio men to accomplish any result worth while in the House than in the Senate.

The Senate will meet Wednesday for the purpose of taking up the bill which the House is expected to pass tomorrow. With no cloture rule and with Senator Clarke of Arkansas and other Senators to back him, Fomereau will be able to make a fight, although the result seems not in doubt for one moment. The California wine men sent a pamphlet answering the latest arguments of the Ohio and Missouri winemakers, to every member of Congress today, and they are in consultation tonight preparing their plans of defense, although they feel quite confident that their fight is won for this session.

TO TEST FRUIT SHRINKAGE. Ten Carloads from Los Angeles Being Sent East to Obtain Data for New Weight Law.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Ten carloads of dried fruit are on their way from Los Angeles to New York, Washington and other cities of the East as part of extensive tests being conducted by the United States Bureau of Chemistry to obtain data for the drafting of regulations for the new net weight law, which requires that the contents be plainly indicated on the outside of every package of food.

The tests are to determine the amount of shrinkage which takes place in transit from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast.

That many niceties of calculation must enter into the preparation of the regulations and the figuring of the allowance which justly must be made on account of the shrinkage during shipment, is shown by the fact, as stated by officials of the bureau, that they will take on weight when sent from a dry to a moist climate. Some crates of macaroni, for example, recently shipped to Denver and Seattle, lost weight, while those sent to New Orleans, San Francisco and Seattle gained, owing to moisture in the air.

PEORIA DIPLOMAT AT CAPITAL. Illinois Editor Who Will Be Ambassador at Court of Czar Has Conference With Wilson.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Hart Pinell, the Peoria (Ill.) editor, who is understood to have been offered the appointment of American Ambassador to St. Petersburg, today after a short interview was referred to Secretary Bryan at the Department of State, with whom he conferred for half an hour.

It is believed that the appointment and that the only obstacle to an immediate nomination is the necessity of waiting for a reply to the Russian Foreign Office to the usual inquiry as to whether Mr. Pinell would be persona grata.

EX-CONGRESSMAN STRICKEN. Maj. Lacey, Who Represented Iowa District, Drops Dead of Heart Disease.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] OMAHA, Sept. 29.—John F. Lacey, former Iowa Congressman for the Sixth Iowa Congressional District, dropped dead here today from heart disease.

Maj. Lacey fell dead at the doorway of his home after having returned from a trip downtown. When he was greeted by his wife at the door, he complained of feeling ill, and she handed him a glass of water, which he was drinking when he fell. The family physician pronounced his death due to apoplexy.

Maj. Lacey, who was prominent in the Civil War as a Union officer, held a seat in Congress from 1889 to 1907. He was a Republican.

COMING TO THE COAST. Naval Aide to President of Jameson Exposition Will Hold Same Position at San Francisco.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Sept. 29.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The navy department has made a change in the naval aide for the Exposition. Orders have been issued revoking the orders previously issued and assigning to this post Lieutenant Commander Woodworth, who was the naval aide to the president of the Jamestown Exposition. He will first accompany the fleet on its cruise to the Mediterranean and will make a number of visits to European capitals.

GIRLS OF SCHOOL AGE

Need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Keep Their Blood in Good Order.

Girls in their teens are often troubled with thin blood, making the complexion pale, sometimes greenish, the cheeks thin, the lips colorless. There is shortness of breath after the slightest exertion, a general feeling of weariness and a disinclination to study or work. Sometimes a slight cough causes a feeling of alarm that the lungs may be affected.

There is one remedy that will surely correct this form of anaemia in growing girls and that is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The action of these pills in such cases is as direct and certain as that of quinine in malaria, as sure as anything known to the science of remedial medicine.

Every mother whose daughter is pale and thin owes it to her child's future to at once give her a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Neglect at this time may result in a lifetime of misery.

(BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Leading American exponents of international commerce were here from all parts of the country tonight to attend the fourth annual banquet of the Manufacturers' Export Association which holds its convention today, electing C.
E. Jenkins of this city president.
John Bassett Moore, Chief Counselor of the Department of State, James A.
Farrell, president of the United States
Steel Corporation, and Augusto B.
Leguia, former President of Peru, were among those who spoke at the banquet.

Mr. Moore pointed to opportunity of reciprocal expansion of foreign trade as a commendable feature of the pending tariff legislation and opposed any serious suggestion that might be made to have the Consular Service divorced from the Department of State and placed under the jurisdiction of the Departments of Commerce and Treasury.

James A. Farrell argued for enlargement of ocean transportation facilities to meet foreign trade increases.

The necessity of a better merchant marine as a medium to control South American trade was emphasized by Mr. Leguia. The new currency legislation when enacted will help to bring this country into closer trade relations

A SILENT ARTICLE.

It is said that eastern society women have adopted a single eyeglass. If they can see better with one eye than with two, let them go to it. We do trust, however, that they will handle it with a longnet instead of screwing their faces up like a blasted British dude. We don't mean to knock the English at large by this, but merely to protest against the one variety.

A BUSY COUNTRY.

In one day's dispatches to The Times we are informed that the defeated rebel army is turning a beautiful country south of the Rio Grande into a desert, that the people of one town are preparing to blow up the railroad shops in anticipation of the enemy's approach and occupation, and that a number of towns in yet another State have been sacked and burned. All this happened on Sunday, it being a quiet day. Life in Mexico must be relieved a little of its monotony.

A STIRRING FUTURE.

Felix Diaz has called his thanks to Gen. Huerta for relieving him of his mission to Japan, whatever that may have been, and will return at once to Mexico to see if he can be elected President. At about the same hour that this happened Gen. Carranza solemnly swore that he would kill any President who happens to be elected. If the mission of Diaz abroad was to get lost, we think he had a much safer job than the one he is coming back to claim.

NOT SO BAD.

Two young people eloped from the Santa Monica High School were married at Santa Ana. When you consider the number of persons who elope and who don't get married at all, there should be no quarrel with those who do. We waive the point of the fearful matrimonial atmosphere and fierce marriage magnet which Santa Ana must have, to say that it looks a little unfair to discourage young people who want to marry in view of the fact that so many of the older ones will not. Laughter aside, children should not marry because there is a grave danger that they will be happy in spite of what either mother-in-law prophesies.

A WISE WOMAN.

The wife of a Congressman is going to study law so that she can run things at home while he is in Washington running after things—like Senators, new bills and patronage for constituents who are either pretty or useful. Some men wouldn't want a wife for a law partner. It would interfere with the stenographer. Others would be glad if a wife's place were at home when he was there to share the pleasure of it. If there is any pleasure in a wife's place, this is an era when the business of being a wife includes many side lines, such as earning a comfortable living for husband. We sincerely hope the Congressman's lady will make good.

GOOD ROADS CLEARINGHOUSE.

The American Highway Association is the national clearinghouse for the organized road movement of America. A session will be held shortly in Washington where twenty chiefs of State and national highways will take part in discussing ways and means of constructing and maintaining highways according to every known method and under all conditions.

The young men are now living who, before their heads are frosted, will be able to ride in high-power autos between daylight and dark 400 miles over a perfect road—shaded with oaks, and poplars, and oaks, and maples, and fir—all the way from Los Angeles to Boston, stopping over night at great caravansaries which will be erected and maintained every fifty or one hundred miles.

COTTON LOANS.

The United States has loaned during August and September fifty millions of dollars to national banks in the principal cities in the Southern States at 3 per cent. per annum interest, repayment to be made in four installments, December 15, 1913; January 15, February 15 and March 15, 1914. Security for the loan is to be in government, State, municipal and other bonds, and in commercial paper which is approved by a securities committee of district clearinghouses, the Secretary of the Treasury naming one member of each committee.

The big banks that get the money at 2 per cent. will loan it to the little banks at 5 per cent., receiving similar bonds as security.

The little banks will loan it to the merchants and cotton factors at 3 per cent., taking different but adequate security for the loan. The merchants and cotton factors will loan it to the cotton planters at 10 and 15 per cent., taking crop mortgages, farm mortgages and cotton warehouse receipts for security.

The cotton crop, if it is a good one and prices are satisfactory, will pay out everything. If it is a bad one then the cotton factor will foreclose the mortgage on the plantation and sell it to somebody who desires to become a cotton farmer.

As usual in business transactions the man at the bottom carries the load. The government loans at 2 per cent. the money for the use of which the cotton planter pays 10 or 15 per cent. The middlemen, who neither toll nor spin nor take any chances on hell weevil or cut worms, get a big share of the profits.

DELINQUENCY.

Can a casual customer of a woman who has been a professional delinquent and an inmate of a bistro for months or years contribute to her delinquency within the meaning of a statute that was intended for the protection of innocent girls against the wiles of seducers and not as a device to afford blackmailers an opportunity to ply their nefarious trade?

Is a sewer defiled by throwing an extra bucket of slops into it?

Contributing to the delinquency of females has been a practice indulged in by men who are victims of animalism for a time "whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary." Kings, and nobles, and soldiers, and statesmen, and orators, and poets, and even preachers have been offenders against the laws of morality, and it may be said of them, as of the dwellers on the headwaters of Elitir Creek, "the higher up you go the wuss they are."

King David and Uriah's wife, Pericles and Aspasia, Antony and Cleopatra, Nero and Poppa, Louis the XIV and Madame Maintenon, Napoleon and his brother's wife, Louis Napoleon and Cora Pearl, President Thiers and Sara Bernhardt, Edward the Fourth and Jane Shore, Charles the Second and Nell Gwynne, William the Silent and John Churchill's wife, George the Fourth and Mrs. Fitzherbert, Edward the Seventh and Lily Langtry, Lord Palmerston and his housemaid, Robert Burns and his seraglio, Nelson and Mrs. Hamilton, Cornwallis and his companion, Byron and his harem, Charles Stuart Parnell and his Kitty, and scores of others illustrious in letters, arts and arms have set vile examples, which lesser men have followed, and so defiled history with the unblushing record of their misdeeds.

All of which is no justification for those who in this morning of the twentieth century hark back to the practices of former centuries to find an excuse for their vices. It may be that many members of the British peerage owe their seats in the House of Lords, not to the achievements of their male ancestors in field or forum, but to the complaisance of their female ancestors at the courts of kings.

But bad examples are not excuses for bad deeds, and the men of this generation should take notice that the standard of personal morality has advanced beyond that of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, and rule their conduct accordingly. If they don't know, let them consult Guy Eddie.

PROGRESSIVES DISAGREE.

Where the forty-seventh-story skyscrapers rear aloft their marble summits until the angels can slide down on moonbeams and dance in the roof gardens to the music of harps twanged by reformed Tammany politicians; where the Goddess of Liberty on Bedloe's Island points triumphantly to the last survey and thanks her lucky stars that she is a Jersey girl; where earthwars Perkins and Munsey, and Roosevelt sucked buttermilk and brandy from the same slant—the colossal having the biggest straw—there is now said to be dissension concerning the conduct of the New York election.

The disheartening returns from Maine have emphasized the necessity of harmony among Progressives in New York. Yet harmony there is not. They do not disagree concerning principles, for they have no principles to disagree about. But they utterly disagree with respect to the methods to be pursued to keep their lambs from turning up their noses at the Bull Moose where they have been impounded, and bleating in chorus.

"Lord, what a wretched land is this That yields us no supply," and jumping stiff-legged over the fence into the green pastures of Republicanism from whence they were lured.

Roosevelt, and Perkins, and Munsey and their associates should not fall out. They should remember "how sweet and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." They should recall those beautiful lines of the poet:

"There was once two cats in Kilkenny, And each thought there was one cat too many; And they fought and they bit, and they squaled and they spit, Until presently 'stead of two cats in Kilkenny, Be gorra there wasn't any."

THE VILLAIN.

The Majestic is showing a villain this week who has a sweet smile and who does not pursue the heroine until she climbs a tree. The fact is that he is a successful villain, this clever man in "Ready Money," because he avoids the woman game and keeps his luck and his head. The part is artistic because the real villain is a plausible man and gets as far away from a grouch as possible. The lesson of "Ready Money" is that, if you can show people that you want no help, they will give you everything that you don't need. Consider yourself in distress and you shall be added thereto, especially by your best friends. Nobody is particular to be blame. When you try to work it the other way it nearly always fails. Be good to somebody and they run from you. Starve them for a little kindness and they will eat out of your hand—maybe.

ORIENTAL AMENDS.

China apologizes for having killed several Japanese. In view of this very great concession, of course, the only thing to do is to forgive and forget. The Japanese must be highly gratified. It would be so pleasant to you to have a man say, "I beg your pardon, but on the street a moment ago I inadvertently killed your brother, your wife and your mother." I apologize, and will you please tell me where I can find your father?

We remember that Charles Batelli Loomis wrote a good story of a killer whose wife remarked after a good supper and in the presence of company: "I do not wish to appear disagreeable, John, but I do regret your killing mother this afternoon."

THE "BOORAL" CREDIT COMMISSIONERS.

What has become of the $3000 worth of rural credit commissioners that Holy Hiram and his Legislature sent whizzing through Europe to study alfalfa finance? Have they made a report, and if so, to whom? Does it contain a description of the can-can as danced in the Closerie de Lilas in gay Paris? Do the roulette tables at Monte Carlo receive a kindly notice? Do they suggest that the fact that busted Buffalo Bill and the Prince of Monaco are now picknicking together in the Yellowstone

After the Flop.

A GIGANTIC LAND GRAB.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—One of the most gigantic and unjustifiable land grabs, in the guise of Pinchot "conservation," ever perpetrated upon Uncle Sam was called to the attention of the Senate this week by Senator Ashurst of Arizona.

The original act authorizing the President by proclamation to create forest reserves was passed on March 3, 1891, while Benjamin Harrison was President. "The creation of these reserves," said Senator Chamberlain, "was recognized as almost a necessity at that time in order to protect the great wealth of timber and mineral resources against the rapacity of the speculator. The creation of these reserves it became necessary to include lands that were owned by entrymen under the several Federal statutes, railroad and wagon-road grants and others who had acquired holdings before the reserve was created."

These conditions suggested the evolution of a monstrous robbery of the United States under the operations of an act that was beneficial in its design. Occasionally there would be a homestead near the top of a mountain, or on a mountainside, or in an isolated valley at the time of an executive proclamation creating a reserve. These holdings were of course not extinguished by the creation of the reserve; but where there was one private holder or one entryman under the land laws there were hundreds of thousands of acres that belonged to railroad and wagon-road grant companies, and others who, through mesne conveyances, had acquired title from them.

Why was one private holder or one entryman in 1896 a plaintiff in the corridors of Congress in behalf of the poor entryman who had a home in the center of a reserve without possibility of having any neighbors or churches or schools? It was demanded in behalf of this poor man that he ought to be allowed to surrender his little holding in the reserve which could never be otherwise so isolated; and that he should be permitted to select in lieu thereof other lands outside of the reserve where he would have the benefit of neighbors, schools and churches. What was life without Sunday-schools and shindigs and a chance to hear sermons and draw to a hobnob fust?

This wall of the isolated entryman did not really come to the aid of the poor man for human companionship to release his land to the government of the United States and to select in lieu thereof an equal area in some other part of the public domain?

This wall of the isolated entryman did not really come to the aid of the poor man for human companionship to release his land to the government of the United States and to select in lieu thereof an equal area in some other part of the public domain?

During the last three centuries the rate of growth of the dictionaries has been 1500 words a year. In 1616 John Bullock, the first English lexicographer, published his "Complete English Dictionary," with 5000 words. Edward Phillips in 1655 was able to do better for his "New World of English Words," and his effort was in turn surpassed by the publication in 1720 of Nathan Bailey's dictionary, with a vocabulary of 45,000.

Twenty-five years later appeared Doctor Johnson's famous lexicon, which was not supplanted till 1828, when its vocabulary of fifty thousand words was more than tripled by Noah Webster's American Dictionary. That the inventiveness of English writers did not abate during the later nineteenth century was evidenced by the publication of the Imperial Dictionary, with 200,000 words, and the Century Dictionary, with a still larger number, followed in 1894 by Dr. Isaac Funk's Standard Dictionary, containing 318,000.

There have been several editions of this, but the one now to appear will eclipse them all. This will contain 450,000 words. Its editor, Dr. Frank Vivvelli, says that much of the apparent expansion of the language is due to improved means of compilation; but that, while dictionaries do not furnish an exact measure of word increase, they do give us an approximation of what development to expect in the future.

This authority points out that all tongues have been materially enriched by recent advances in chemistry, botany, aviation, wireless telegraphy and other sciences. There are now in fact 600,000 English words, but about one-quarter of this number are obsolete or obsolescent. "Not more than 25,000 are of Anglo-Saxon origin," says the editor of the Standard Dictionary. "It is noteworthy," he adds, "that Americans are adopting the pronunciation used in England, and that such usages as Eretalian (for Italian) and sofay (for sofa) are disappearing."

Ira Sheekley, a Los Angeles man, is in the County Jail for demanding $200 blackmail money. In this connection the name is appropriate.

BITS OF WIT.

Why Not?

[Lippincott's:] "What's the baby crying for now?" asked the head of the house from the depth of his paper.

"He wants his own way," answered the mother.

And with his mind on the latest stock quotations Hubby replied: "Well, if it's his, why don't you let him have it?"

Soaked Her Into Pleas.

[Birmingham Age-Herald:] "Young Butler and Miss Waple fell out yesterday."

"Do you think they will make up again?"

"I'm sure Miss Waple will. They fell out of a motor boat."

Easily Answered.

[Puck:] Owner: "What'll it cost to repair this car of mine?"

Garage Proprietor: "What ails it?"

Owner: "I don't know."

Garage Proprietor: "Thirty-four dollars and sixty-five cents."

Would Do His Very Best.

[Boston Transcript:] Lady (to tramp): "Now I hope you won't spend the money I've given you for vile liquor."

Tramp: "I'll get the best I know about, mum, but I ain't no connoisseur."

Had Proved It.

[Florida Times Union:] "So you claim the world is round," sneered the skeptic.

"How do you know that it is not square?"

"Because I have had too many dealings with it," grimly replied Columbus.

Learned Its Uselessness.

[Houston Post:] "He never seems to question a thing his wife says."

"No, he never argues with her."

"I wonder why?"

"I suspect that she has told him not to."

The Peddler's Reward.

[Chicago News:] Hall: "What are you doing now?"

Gall: "Oh, I'm making a house-to-house canvass to ascertain why people don't want to buy a new patent clothes wringer."

Paid the Grudge.

[Boston Transcript:] Stox: "Say, old man, I'm sorry that market tip I gave you yesterday turned out so bad. I hope—"

June 4, 1897, June 6, 1900, and March 3, 1901, are merely repealed so far as they provide for the relinquishment, selection and patenting of lands in lieu of tracts covered by an unperfected bona fide claim or patent within a forest reserve."

But the Weyerhaeuser syndicate, assisted by Clifford Pinchot, had in the meantime got busy. They had secured vast tracts of the lands granted to the Northern Pacific Company in Oregon and Washington. They succeeded in adding to the law repealing the indemnity land law the following:

"But the validity of contracts entered into by the Secretary of the Interior prior to the passage of this act shall not be impaired: Provided, That selections heretofore made in lieu of lands relinquished to the United States may be perfected and patents issue therefor the same as though this act had not been passed, and if for any reason not the fault of the party making the same any pending selection is held invalid another selection for like quality of land may be made in lieu thereof."

Congress promptly proceeded to lock the stable after the horse was stolen. Pinchot smiled as broad as the delta of the Mississippi, and Roosevelt glinted his glass eyes with a complaisant gleam when the act of March 3, 1905, became a law.

In the debate in the Senate last week in which the lieu land inquiry was thoroughly overhauled attention was called to a speech made in June, 1913, by Congressman Humphreys of Washington. That gentleman said in substance:

"By executive order vast forest reserves were created in Arizona, some entirely treeless. At first these reserves did not include much railroad land."

But Pinchot, Chief Forester, was dissatisfied with this condition. He claimed that the interest of forest preservation demanded the acquisition of more land on which there were no trees. So 1,200,000 acres of treeless land belonging to the Santa Fe road was "reserved" and the company gave it up without a murmur for the best government land to be found anywhere in twenty-two States. Fifty-three thousand acres of land were selected in the State of Washington, although the company does not own a mile of land within 800 miles of that State.

In the San Francisco mountain reserve in Arizona were 800,000 acres of land valued by the railroad company at from $5 to 15 cents per acre. The company obtained in exchange for this land worth from $5 to $15 per acre.

"The Grand Canyon Forest Reserve was created in Arizona. This reserve contained 375,000 acres of Santa Fe land also. These 375,000 acres were also mostly worthless. But in the name of conservation, and with the active assistance of the Forest Service, for these 375,000 acres of worthless land the Santa Fe Railroad was permitted to select $50,000 acres of the best of the public lands that yet remained. It was afterwards discovered that through some mistake they had been allowed to take 5000 acres too much, but this little insignificant error was never corrected. Thus, more than a million were given in the name of conservation to the Santa Fe Railroad for practically no consideration whatever. Is it any wonder that the officials of the Santa Fe Railroad were great conservationists?"

By these various exchange operations the United States has been robbed of over one hundred millions of dollars for which Roosevelt and Pinchot and their allies in the Progressive plan are largely responsible.

Skills?

CIVIL SERVICE RULE DOUBTED.

Unconstitutional, Is Counsel's Opinion.

Suit Before Supreme Court Expected.

Local Charter Must Not Do State Violence.

Believing that the portion of the county charter conferring upon the Civil Service Commission the right to prescribe and regulate qualifications and to make selections of assistants and deputies in the various county offices unconstitutional, County Counsel Hill filed an opinion with the Supervisors yesterday which curtails the powers of Commissioner Evans in a marked degree.

The opinion, which is supposed to represent careful preparation on the part of the county counsel, may result in a test suit brought in the Supreme Court to determine the constitutionality of other charter provisions. In the opinion of many skilled lawyers, the charter is invalid in a number of instances and opposed to the State Constitution.

In his opinion, the county counsel holds that the charter adopted in 1915, which was amended to provide for a few discretionary provisions in the charter, is unconstitutional.

In addition to the mandatory provisions set forth in section No. 7, 1/2, which must be contained in every charter, a few discretionary provisions are allowable under the constitutional amendment.

The opinion goes on to state that the mandatory provision of subsection 11, of section No. 7, 1/2 of article II of the Constitution vests the power in the Board of Supervisors.

The board of Supervisors are not only relieved of the duty and responsibility fixed by law by the charter, but are also prohibited from prescribing and regulating the qualifications, clearly invalid, according to the opinion.

Counting, County Counsel Hill says, are not at all disposed to support the merits and scheme of the civil service administration, but on the contrary believe that the commission acting in an advisory capacity could prove a valuable adjunct to the Supervisors.

"While the board is not compelled in any way to accept the recommendations of the Civil Service Commission, still the members are at liberty to receive such recommendations from such commission the same as from any other person, but the recommendation does not in any way shift, lessen or relieve the duty and responsibility fixed on the Board of Supervisors by the Constitution provision."

Under the Constitution the board is burdened with a public trust and as a duty prescribe such qualifications which may seem just and proper to them.

Each Supervisor will be furnished with a copy of the opinion which presumably represents long study on the part of the legal department of the board.

Lawyers are much interested in the outcome as a legal proposition and nearly all the county employees are interested because of the drastic set of rules formulated by Commissioner Evans, who believes the Civil Service Commission is invested with powers far greater than those possessed by the Supervisors, though the charter makes the latter body the chief authority in the county.

If a final "show-down" is made, the Supervisors can not only remove an obnoxious commissioner, but can also hold up his pay indefinitely. The heads of departments still look to the Supervisors as the source of authority and doubtless will stand by their resolution and decrees.

The opinion was read to the board by Clerk McPherson. It was filed without comment. Commissioner Evans was not there.

Thirtieth Concert. CALIFORNIANS WIN APPLAUSE.

INCREASED ATTENDANCE FOR THE PEOPLE'S ORCHESTRA.

Hadley's "In Bohemia" and Appearance of Miss Grace Bromfield as Soloist in Locally-Composed Song of Merit Features of Yesterday's Sunday Concert.

BY HECTOR ARLIST.

Cool weather is a great aid to concert attendance. We seldom have real weather until the end of October. The People's Orchestra, by waiting a month, would have been assured of a more certain artistic and financial return, which would have proved to be of great assistance for lean days to come. It elected to begin its season a week ago Sunday. The record of seats sold, after the second concert of the second season, yesterday, indicated that 170 more persons had overlooked the prevailing warmth of the afternoon and increased by that number the attendance of the opening concert.

Such an increase must be gratifying news for the Music Teachers' Association, as indicating the growing popularity of the concert. A well-balanced program well repeated those who patronized the Auditorium last Sunday afternoon.

"In Bohemia," a concert overture by H. K. Hadley, was the first number. This colorful and brilliant work was dedicated to the Bohemian Club and to Victor Herbert by its composer, the director of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. In this case, as in two others, added interest was created by the fact that the musical compositions offered, were written and given by Californians. As an American composer he has been especially recognized by receiving the Paderewski prize for his "Four Seasons," and another from the Federation of Music Clubs for his orchestral rhapsody, "The Culpit Pay."

For the second offering "Violin Concerto," by Mendelssohn, had been selected. It was given by Harold Webster with orchestral accompaniment. The selection of that composition, which is difficult to play and is probably better suited for chamber music, was not especially attractive when given in the vast auditorium. Mr. Harold Webster, a local violinist of considerable talent, did not seem to possess, evidently through nervousness in the first part, that breath of tone, volume and quality so essentially necessary for the satisfying interpretation of Mendelssohn's temperamental concerto.

Miss Grace Bromfield, a tall and handsome daughter of San Francisco, was induced by Charles Farwell Edson to appear as soloist at this concert. Miss Bromfield is a little soprano, possessed of a fine, full and well-trained voice. "If instead of being a Californian, she had come with a foreign name and the label of one of the eastern opera companies, the attendance would have been double," said a connoisseur. He was quite right. This young artist sang with great charm, "Oh, Golden Sun," composed by Miss Grace Freedy of this city, which was first given some time ago by Emma Porter Makinson, the local soprano. The orchestration is the work of A. D. Hunter and reflects much credit on this well-known musician.

Miss Bromfield sang also the aria of Musette in "La Boheme." Following repeated applause, which brought Miss Freedy on the stage and recalled the singer and orchestra conductor several times, Musette's song was again given as an encore by the singer, who received many flowers.

Sky-Pilots. FIVE SAILORS IN AERIAL SEA.

Knabenshue's Dirigible Makes Good in Pasadena.

Women Passengers Enjoy
Season's First Flight.

Angeleno Auto Man and Wife First Fares.

Roy Knabenshue, who has been at work six months constructing a "markedly large dirigible balloon," and who has made a number of trial flights in the past few weeks, yesterday made his first trip with women passengers. He sailed over Pasadena for about an hour and with him were his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Smith of Smith Brothers, Los Angeles, and Carlton Holmes, one of Knabenshue's assistants, who always accompanies him on the flights and helps sail the airship. Smith Brothers handle the Peerless and Ohio electric in Los Angeles.

Knabenshue yesterday flew over the city at a height of about 500 feet. He stung out the hotel—the Green, the Raymond, the Huntington and the Maryland—from which he expects to recruit many passengers next winter. The leisurely flight was watched with interest by many persons. A speed of about twenty-five miles an hour was maintained, although Knabenshue says his dirigible is capable of doing forty miles an hour.

"I shall make a flight now every morning," the aviator said yesterday. "I shall start about 8 o'clock in the morning. Already I have a great many prospective passengers, and, of course, each wants to see the dirigible first. Although I expect to take the balloon to Los Angeles and the beach town later on, for a time I shall fly over Pasadena comparatively near the ground. These flights will be made to inspire confidence in the dirigible."

Knabenshue's airship is 150 feet long and the envelope holds 75,000 cubic feet of gas. It has a total lifting power of 5000 pounds and the envelope, motor, fuselage and other equipment it carries weighs 3000 pounds, leaving a passenger-carrying capacity of 2000 pounds. It is at present equipped with seats for six passengers, but is so constructed that more can be added. It has two propellers, one on either side of the motor, and a rudder formed of six large planes. It was with the rudder that Knabenshue had the most trouble. The airship was originally built with a single-plane rudder, about half the size of one of the planes now used. This was enlarged several times and still would not control the airship with precision. Knabenshue, since he put on the multiple rudder, has had no difficulty. He has been able to land with ease at the starting point—a large open tract of land near the Hotel Raymond, on which he has built an immense aerodrome.

Jury Acquits Bixby.

contributing charge and was sentenced to serve one year in the County Jail and to pay a fine of $1000, the maximum sentence.

Bixby through his attorneys entered a plea of "not guilty" and the District Attorney's office elected to try the case based on the supposed revelation of the Barker girl as possessing some of the stronger elements involved in the case.

PROBABLY ENDS IT.

Though it is legally possible for the District Attorney to prosecute Bixby on the other indictment, this is considered very improbable. Deputy Keyes stated yesterday that he should abide by the first and strongest case unless there was a disagreement. He was in court last evening at the time of the acquittal.

The jury which returned the verdict was composed of the following men: W. Mollenkott, Elmer E. Tanager, E. L. Crane, James Moyle, Edward Feckler, A. Comstock, F. F. Griswold, S. C. Buehn, S. D. Thurman, H. L. McCabe, H. Humphrey and B. Miller.

Knabenshue dirigible airship's flight yesterday.

Below is a part of the great car and four passengers. Knabenshue is standing at the left of the picture. Other passengers, who made the trip yesterday morning are Mrs. Knabenshue, Clarence F. Smith of Smith Brothers, automobile dealers in this city, Mrs. Smith and Carlton Holmes. None of the party was injured. The motion was so easy and security so apparent, they say, that they viewed the country below them calmly and enjoyably.

Roaring Caldron.

FURNITURE WAREHOUSE DESTROYED BY FLAMES.

Barker Bros. Suffer Quarter-Million Loss by Fierce Fire, Which Also Threatens the Surrounding Property. Firemen Nearly Caught by Falling Wall—Thousands Help to Battle Blaze—Cause Unknown.

FLAMES totally destroyed Barker of the city would burn. There are no palatial homes near by, but men, women and children, face to face with the possible destruction of their homes, rushed forth with garden hose and buckets, pitting their puny strength against that of the roaring element of destruction, eager to be of assistance to the firemen, who were doing all that mortal man could do to check the advance of the threatening fire.

Ten thousand persons lifted their voices in a mighty cheer when, at the expiration of two hours, Assistant Chief O'Donnell announced that the fire was under control. Up to that time the issue had been in doubt. The firemen, who were doing all that mortal man could do to check the advance of the threatening fire, were doing all that mortal man could do to check the advance of the threatening fire.

With the arrival of the firemen the fight against odds began. Seven engine companies, three hose companies and a water tower battled three hours. Trained eyes quickly discerned what was slowly being borne in upon the watching thousands. If once those hungry flames broke through the barrier of water and men every building in that part belched through the openings when the doors were thrown open so as to give the firemen a chance. Driven back time after time by the intense heat and the choking smoke, the men just as often returned to the attack. Throughout the long hours that the flames roared in the interior of the new building a few feet away, the firemen stuck by their precarious post, oblivious to heat and smoke alike. In the end their heroism triumphed and the attacks of the fire hosts became weaker and weaker.

Tragedy loomed large before the firemen stationed on the west side of the imperiled building at one time. In a narrow alleyway separating the main warehouse from the upholstering shops, fifteen firemen were working in the intense heat. A scolding ladder had been placed against the wall and a line of hose was being carried up it when the wall swayed sickeningly.

"Look out for the wall! Look out for the wall!" The cry came simultaneously from a thousand throats. Jumping, sliding, any way to get down from the ladder, the firemen heeded the danger call. Three minutes later there was a rending, tearing crash and the whole wall where the men had been working collapsed.

Some of the firemen were struck by flying bricks, but no one was seriously injured. Through the breach of the fallen wall the fire fighters returned to the attack.

For minutes that seemed like hours the water being poured into the interior of the building apparently had no effect. Filled with furniture which for weeks had been stored there in anticipation of the fall trade, the whole interior burned like tinder. Two carloads of furniture had been placed in the doomed building yesterday afternoon.

IT'S ALL A MYSTERY.

Two hundred and fifty employees of the company had left the building just ten minutes prior to the outbreak of the fire.

No one appears to know just how the fire originated. Supposedly, J. W. Beam and Secretary F. A. Barnes of the Barker Bros. Company arrived on the scene a few minutes after the fire apparatus and found men to keep back the crowd.

On the north of the building, on warring walls overlooking the street, were the cottages of W. W. Wain, No. 519 Molino street; C. F. Smith, 511 Molino street, and C. F. Smith, No. 515 Molino street. Neighbors readily assisted in moving the furniture from these houses, while a police brigade was formed to protect adjacent property from sparks and flying brands.

Across the street on the east side of the building of the Union Iron Works and adjoining it the plant of the Los Angeles Carbonic Company. On the south is the Union Well Supply Company and the Italian Veneer Company. At all these places firemen were busy playing streams of water on the threatened property.

The building which was destroyed about ten years ago. The whole warehouse was used for storing goods. In this building much furniture had been stored.

Life's Goals

MOVEMENT

MEMBERS of the Spring-Cade-lader bridal party were guests last evening of Morris Cadwalder, who entertained elaborately with a handsome dinner party at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Autumn decorations formed an artistic centerpiece for the table, where the place cards bore the names of Miss Katharine Spring, who will become Mrs. C. Cadwalder, tomorrow evening at St. John's Episcopal Church; Mrs. Lawrence Field Kelsey, Mrs. Stanley A. Viesel, Miss Sally Polk, Miss Josephine Struve, Miss Agnes Whitaker, Ellen Paulding, Lorraine Mackay, Russell Glade, Lawrence Field Kelsey and Stanley A. Viesel. Following the repast a rehearsal at St. John's will occupy the evening.

In San Francisco. Miss Katherine Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Johnson, Jr., of West Twenty-eighth street, is visiting friends in San Francisco.

In Bay City. Mr. and Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy of Bay City, with their daughter, Miss Allen, are still occupying an apartment in San Francisco.

In Los Angeles. Rev. Harry W. White of Santa Barbara is in Los Angeles, where he will remain a fortnight.

At Arrowhead. Mr. and Mrs. Jotham Bixby, Jr., of Long Beach are among prominent society folk enjoying the pleasures of Arrowhead. Mr. and Mrs. Bixby plan an outing of three weeks.

To Return. Capt. and Mrs. Lewis Stanton with their children, Hon. P. A. Stanton, Mrs. Carolyn Thompson, Charles Stanton and Miss Adeline Stanton, who have been spending the summer at their home in Bay City, will return next month to their residence at No. 420 West Thirty-first street.

Mrs. McArthur Emmerich. Mrs. Frank C. McArthur, who has recently moved from the Wilhelms Apartments on Grand avenue to No. 1817 Harvard boulevard, opened her home recently to the Rose Croix Club, which entertained with a card party. In the afternoon forty guests

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The City Council was unable to obtain a quorum yesterday to adopt resolutions making the Board of Supervisors to make changes in the notice of sale of a blanket power franchise, of sale of a blanket power franchise, but the City Engineer secured the desired action by the county legislators. The Police Commission yesterday granted a second-class restaurant liquor permit to Al Levy for a restaurant on Seventh street, after the Mayor had lectured Levy upon the propriety and earned him that no cabaret shows will be tolerated in his place.

The Board of Public Works yesterday decided to grant the Pacific Light and Power Corporation a permit to place poles on Ascot avenue, in a district where there has been much trouble over placing of poles. The Police Commission yesterday refused to grant poolroom permits for Boyle Heights and Vernon, and the Mayor announced that his policy will be to allow the neighborhoods themselves to determine whether they want to keep out poolrooms.

Councilman Reed, who is still confined to his home by illness, offered resign yesterday, but his fellow members declined to grant him a sixty-day leave of absence. Harris Hanush, noted auto race driver, was granted a decree of divorce yesterday when evidence was produced showing his wife committed indiscretions.

At the City Hall.

WANTS RIGHT TO PURCHASE.

CITY ATTORNEY GETS CHANGE IN PROPOSED FRANCHISE.

In Absence of Quorum of the City Council, Legal Representative Induces Supervisors to Withdraw Notice of Sale and Insert Clause Desired by Municipality.

There was excitement around the City Hall yesterday when it was discovered that it would be impossible to secure a quorum of the City Council to pass resolutions addressed to the Board of Supervisors requesting that body to withdraw its notice of sale of a blanket franchise for light and power lines, to the Southern California Edison Company.

City Attorney, however, grasped the situation, and accompanied by Assistant City Attorney Robertson, appeared before the Supervisors and explained why they were there without official sanction. Stephens then presented the case of the city.

He asked that the sale be postponed and the ordinance amended so as to permit the city to purchase the lines of the corporation, after five years, in such portions of the territory as might in the future be annexed to the city.

BOARD SETTLER IT.

GRANTS POLE LINE PERMIT.

The very latest step in the controversy over erection of poles on streets in the southern part of the city by the Pacific Light and Power Corporation developed yesterday when the Board of Public Works approved the recommendation of City Engineer Hamlin and ordered a permit to be issued for erection of a line of poles on Ascot avenue, from Fifty-fifth street to Slauson avenue.

The City Engineer reported to the board that this line is necessary for the proper distribution of power, and that the pole line has been installed to the corner of Fifty-fifth street and Ascot avenue, coming from the east, without serious protest. He says in this report.

This part of Fifty-fifth street in which the new poles are installed already has a line of poles which will eventually be eliminated by using the new ones, a condition which finally leaves Fifty-fifth street practically as it is today. A previous plan to reach Slauson avenue by way of Fifty-fifth street aroused serious protests, as the new line of poles was being erected on a street which had no poles, immediately in front of the residences. The route now sought is by way of Ascot avenue from Fifty-fifth street to a point on Slauson avenue outside the city. This route avoids most of the objections raised on streets running east and west, as no houses face on this thoroughfare, and no existing telephone lines are located here which might be endangered by the nearness of the high power line. The route is direct, and after a careful investigation of different possibilities with Mr. Manahan, it is respectfully recommended, with the concurrence of Mr. Manahan, that this permit be issued.

This statement of policy was announced in connection with the commission's denial of the petition for a poolroom permit by P. S. Lockridge for No. 3737 Stephenson avenue, against which largely signed protests were filed, and also one for the Vernon district, against which protest was made by petition and personal appeal of Rev. William Davis, Congregational minister, and Rev. Livingston, Methodist pastor at Vernon avenue.

LEVY GETS LICENSE.

ACTION OF COMMISSION.

The most interesting feature of yesterday's meeting of the Police Commission was the granting of a No. 2 restaurant liquor permit to Al Levy, as manager of the Levy Cafe Company, for No. 118 West Seventh street, where Levy has been conducting a small restaurant for some time. Commissioner Morgan said that in view of his petition, signed by many good citizens, he had practically guaranteed the proper conduct of the place, he was willing to grant the permit.

Mayor Rose agreed to this, but addressing Levy, warned him that there could be no cabaret shows in the place or other features that might lead to criticism.

"This application comes to us under peculiar conditions," said the Mayor, "and you owe it to yourself and this commission to see that there is no ground for the breath of complaint against your place."

Levy declared there would be no cabaret or show features at his restaurant, and that he wanted a liquor permit simply to accommodate the business men who patronize his tables and who demand liquor with their meals.

The second-class permit granted allows the serving of only wine and beer in bottles with food for standing, other classes of liquor can be served under this permit.

TRANSFERS ALLOWED.

SALOONS CHANGE OWNERSHIP.

The Police Commission yesterday granted the transfer of a retail liquor permit from John McNamee to McNamee & Thatchers for No. 140 Canal street, Wilmington. It also granted a transfer of a similar permit held by White & Kupferle, from No. 429 South San Pedro street, to No. 401 on this street.

Charles Ernest Wach has sold his saloon at No. 159 Canal street to Louie White, and the commission allowed the transfer of this permit. A second-class restaurant liquor permit has been granted to Al Levy for No. 118 West Seventh street. A No. 1 restaurant liquor permit was transferred from Vanderlinde & Hambacher to Gus Mayer, for No. 118 West Seventh street.

The Pullman Social Club, which has 125 members, in order to stand, was granted a social club liquor permit for No. 521 Ceres avenue.

The application of Tony Bosina for a second-class restaurant liquor permit for No. 113 South Spring street was declined on the grounds that there are a sufficient number of liquor permits now in this block to serve the public.

NO POOLROOMS.

CITIZENS TO HAVE SAY.

Poolrooms are to be taboo under the Rose administration in residence districts, where the people strongly express themselves against such institutions. So Mayor Rose declared at yesterday's meeting of the Police Commission.

"I am not averse to poolrooms, but I believe that the people of a community, as a whole, ought to be allowed to say whether they want them in their districts," said the Mayor. "The poolroom doesn't fill any long-felt want in a residence district, anyway."

Order Block Closed.

For a term of two years no more wholesale or retail liquor permits will be issued for Spring street, between Third and Fourth. So the Police Commission ordered yesterday. The block has 1216.67 feet of frontage. Of this frontage only 111 feet is qualified, the remainder being disqualified because of either direct or indirect interest in the liquor business. This disqualification extends to the entire block on one side. The frontage represented on the appeal for closing was 121 feet, or 54 per cent of that available.

Another New Policy.

Heretofore the rule of the Police Commission has been that patrolmen must maintain the appearance of their uniforms in the performance of their duties. At yesterday's meeting of the board a change of sentiment was indicated in that when the commission voted to recommend to the City Council that Judson D. Conwell be reimbursed for the ruin of his uniform, which was cut by a knife and so bloodstained that it is useless, while he was making an arrest. Conwell was injured himself in the commission recommends that he be continued on full pay pending his recovery.

Reed's Leave of Absence.

Councilman Reed is still seriously ill at his home in Hollywood, and all the members of the City Council who were in the city went out to visit him yesterday forenoon and extend him their sympathy. Reed stated that as he was uncertain how long it might be before he would be able to resume his official duties, it might be well for him to resign. To this his fellow members would not consent, and this morning they will officially grant him a sixty-day leave of absence. Reed may go to his ranch in the Coachella Valley as soon as he is able to travel, and spend several weeks there recuperating. His leave of absence is to be granted without pay, this being at Reed's own request.

Sunset Boulevard Damaged.

The Board of Public Works has completed the taking of evidence on the damage claims filed on the proposed change of grade and improvement of Sunset boulevard, from Main to Marion streets. Yesterday the members of the board made a personal inspection of the properties affected and it is expected that the final report on the awards will be made next Tuesday. Damage claims aggregating more than $101,000 were filed. It is probable that not more than half of this sum will be allowed.

Harbor Finances.

The Finance Committee conferred with the Harbor Commission yesterday over the appeal for financial aid for this department, and decided to recommend that an appropriation of $1200 be made for the salary of a collector of the port. The committee also agreed to recommend that provision be made for money to pay for the publication of the Harbor Commission's booklet on the harbor, which is to be placed in the hands of ship owners in all principal ports, and to meet the deficiency on salaries of the Harbor Commissioners for eight months. Provision will also be made for employment of extra help in working out details of the harbor terminal.

Wants a Stenographer.

The main business transacted by the Efficiency Commission yesterday was to decide that it must have more room and more help before it can transact any business. The commission authorized Commissioner Bellows to arrange with the Civil Service Commission for the transfer of Samuel Marks to its department as stenographer, and Commissioner Myers to arrange for the transfer of Samuel Marks to its department as stenographer.

Seek Government Permit.

Harbor Engineer Jubb yesterday submitted to the Board of Public Works maps of the proposed dredging in an area on the west side of the main channel, south of United States Station 14 and also an area in the East Basin of the Inner Harbor at Wilmington, and requested that steps be taken at once to secure the necessary permission from the government to do this work. This was referred to the Harbor Commission.

ATHLETIC SAN DIEGO MAN GIVES REQUIRED EVIDENCE.

Harris Hanush Given Decree, but Court Scores Witness—Chiropractic Pair Split by Court Because of Business Partnership. Burr Will Probated.

Frank A. Garrison, an athletic young man of San Diego, became a witness in the divorce suit of Harris M. Hanush, dare-devil auto racer, against Martha T. Hanush in Judge Monroe's court yesterday, to supply the evidence of an alleged act at a local hotel, Garrison's testimony was voluntary, and drew from the court the remark that he is not inclined to believe a man who, without compulsion, takes the witness stand and testifies to an act of commission or omission. Garrison left the witness stand very much to the bad in the eyes of the spectators.

It also developed, according to Mr. Hanush, who made no appearance in the suit, that he had received a check from Hanush for an amount which will keep her from want for a long while. Hanush testified there were no children and no community property. Testimony obtained from him by Judge Monroe was that he had no connection with his wife's name from a woman at San Diego. Letters written by Mrs. Hanush to her husband claimed her folly. The decree was granted.

Hanush was married at Santa Ana in 1907. His wife formerly was Mrs. Everett, had been married twice previously. She is said to be handsome and vivacious.

GRANTED DECREE.

THREE DOCTORS DISAGREE.

Dr. Elizabeth V. Helfrich was granted a decree of divorce from Elmer E. Helfrich in Judge Monroe's court yesterday. The ground was desertion. It was shown that the Helfrichs were married at Oklahoma City August 1, 1908. Dr. Helfrich's alleged desertion is the story told in a $50,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Harry St. Clair against Dr. Helfrich.

The couple occupied offices in the Pay building. Their names were painted on the time office door. The doctor and the husband and the wife of the doctor, Dr. Helfrich, the latter went to a small town in Kansas several months ago. Mrs. St. Clair, in her complaint, charges that Dr. Helfrich, "by gifts of money and other means, induced Harry St. Clair to stay away from home late at night and to treat the plaintiff with unkindness and disrespect by reason of the actions of the defendant."

STOCK DIVIDED.

MICHIGAN MAN'S WILL.

Property worth $38,000 in this county is covered in the will of Samuel Drake Walden, who died at Wilcox Lake, Mich., on the 24th of August. The will was admitted to probate in the probate court of Michigan and leaves an estate there valued at $100,000. The petition for the probate of the will here was filed by the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank. It sets out the various stock owned by Walden, including ninety-two shares of the Union Oil Company, forty-five shares of the Union Oil Company, forty shares of the Home Telephone Company, and fifteen shares of the Newlin Oil Company. He also owned real property in this county worth $25,000 and $13,000 worth in other counties.

An heirloom descends to Walden's son, George, residing at San Diego. This is a commission to Samuel Drake, signed by George Walden. George also gets his father's watch and chain, and $50 a month from the income of the estate. He also receives the other children, Louise W. Kercher and Laura W. Tower, a third interest in the estate. The widow, Josephine V. Walden, receives the lease and profits from the estate.

DAUGHTER PAYS CASH.

MOTHER GIVEN FREEDOM.

The picturesque fight made by Mrs. Della B. Rawson, who formerly conducted a divorce agency, to be released from the County Jail, where she was confined for four months on a fraud judgment, has come to an end. It was a losing fight for Mrs. Rawson, who alleged that she was insolvent, but whose daughter, Marie D. Fuller, satisfied the fraud judgment by putting up $2000 cash.

Mrs. Rawson was committed to jail four months ago. Seven times she appeared in Judge Wood's court and swore that she was insolvent. The court found, however, that considerable property was in her name. Her daughter, Marie D. Fuller, belonged to back to jail. The fraud judgment was obtained by Mrs. Gertrude Ryckman in a suit involving a rooming-house deal. Mrs. Rawson bought the rooming-house from Mrs. Ryckman and failed to pay the money.

JOHN BURR'S WILL.

CARES FOR HIS FAMILY.

The will of John Burr, former Sheriff of this county, written by himself, was filed for probate yesterday. The petitioner is his widow, Annie P. Burr, who gives the value of the estate as $45,875. It consists of a quarter interest in property in Tulare county, a ranch at San Fernando, cash, and stock.

Mrs. Burr receives life insurance policies and a share of the community property which Burr orders to be sold. The other portion is to be divided equally among the three children, John Burr, Jr., and Charles F. Burr.

Mrs. Burr shares, provided she remains a widow and lives with one of her sons. In the event that she remarries, she shall relinquish her claim on all of the property coming to her at Burr's death, and the share is to be apportioned among the sons.

CONTEMPT CHARGED.

OBJECTS TO MARRIAGE.

Overseer David E. Electric, conductor, was before Judge Wilbur on a contempt charge yesterday. It is alleged that he took his daughter, Lena E. Davis, aged 16 years, from the custody of his wife, Lena H. Davis, just before the case was to have been disposed of by the Juvenile Court, October 6. Davis, in his own behalf, stated yesterday that there was a disposition on the part of his wife, from whom he is separated, to marry the girl to a man twice her age. He did not approve of this and thought the girl would be better off away from her home. The girl was in court with her mother, both being represented by attorneys.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

FATHER LOSES FIGHT. The attempt of Jesse N. Bell to obtain his daughter, Ellen, aged 6 years, by habeas corpus, failed in Judge Taft's court yesterday. Ellen has been in the custody of her uncle and aunt, Hugh I. and Birdie M. Krause, since the death of her mother who was divorced from Bell. They adopted her on the 4th inst., and Bell alleged adoption was void, as the court was without jurisdiction. By denying the adoption, the court found the Krauses are legally entitled to the girl.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE. Chris Nelson, aged 17, a member of the alleged auto gang, was sentenced by Judge Taft yesterday to one year in the county jail. Sentence was suspended, however, pending his good conduct. Nelson was charged with participating in the theft of J. G. Kennel's auto.

FRIEND APPOINTED. Judge Willis was appointed administrator yesterday of the $20,000 estate of his friend, Eduljee Soradjee, whose ashes he recently scattered upon the sea. Soradjee, a Persian, before coming to this country had charge of machinery in England which he shipped and set up in the Orient.

SUIT FOR CHILDREN. George Earl Chambers asks the court to give him the exclusive custody of his children, Ruth and Dorothy, minors, alleging that they were abandoned by his wife and that she is an unfit person to have charge of them. The couple were married July 3, 1904.

INCORPORATIONS. San Joaquin Valley Land Company; incorporators, William M. Roads, J. E. Blenkiron, J. E. Dickinson, C. J. Swanson; capital stock, $100,000; subscribed, $100,000. Oro Hill Mine Development Company; incorporators, E. G. Gould, Hubert Beecher, Dan Hoover, J. F. Cullen, R. C. Cullen; capital stock, $50,000; subscribed, $5. Torrance Athletic Association; incorporators, R. E. Smith, R. H. Brown, R. Bennett, George Watson. Western Printing Ink Company; incorporators, John H. Laughlin, Edward Morgan, Miss Margaret Vaughan, daughter-in-law, receives the homestead; Mrs. Frank Shanley of Anaheim is bequeathed the jewelry.

PETITIONS FILED. Mrs. Beale Bryan Bradford filed on the 20th inst., without a will, leaving an estate valued at $10,000. Petition for the administration and the guardianship of June Bryan Bradford, the fifteen-year-old daughter of the deceased, was filed yesterday by L. T. Bradford, the widower and father. June has a half interest in the estate.

DAMAGE SUIT. The $1114.50 damage suit of G. G. Hofmeister against Roland P. Bishop and Carl Gaffradon for injuries alleged to have been received when the defendant's auto struck Hofmeister, who was riding a bicycle on East Seventh street, July 26, 1912, was on trial yesterday. Negligence and carelessness were charged on both sides.

WRITES FOUR WILLS. Among the papers of Mary A. Wool, who died August 2 last at No. 1277 West Broadway street, were found four wills. One of these wills was filed for probate yesterday by Kenyon F. Los. The estate is valued at $200,000. Mrs. Los, a sister, receives $1000 and property at McKeesport, Pa. Miss Margaret Vaughan, daughter-in-law, receives the homestead; Mrs. Frank Shanley of Anaheim is bequeathed the jewelry.

MUST FILE TODAY. The naturalization department received seventeen applications yesterday. Company Wednesday. All told there are 150 applications set for various dates. Unless an applicant has filed his papers, shares of the new declaration that is, one made prior to the new naturalization act of June 29, 1906—files his application today, the declaration becomes void. He must then make a new declaration and wait two years.

TO PRISON FOR FIVE YEARS. Ira F. Holt, a real estate man, was sentenced to San Quentin for five years by Judge Wiley yesterday upon conviction of obtaining $1200 from Grace Carter, a waitress, and spending the cash for an automobile. Instead of investing it as he promised.

Good Time Now For Blood Health

Energies Are More Keen and Respond Quickly to Help.

If you are down with rheumatism; if you meek, feel chafed, are choked with catarrh, have coughs, colds, are pimply and irritated with rash, eczema, or any other blood disorder just remember that all the life of life comes from pure blood. And you can easily give your blood a good thorough cleansing, a bath by using S. S. S. There is no need for anyone to be dependent over the illness of blood impurities. No matter how badly they attack the system, or how unhealthily becomes the skin, just remember there is one ingredient in S. S. S. that so stimulates the cellular tissues throughout the body that each particle is its own essential nutriment from the blood.

This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repair work begins. S. S. S. has such a specific influence on all local cells to preserve their normal welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attention is being given to scientific medicine than ever before and S. S. S. is the highest achievement in this line. For many years people relied upon Mercury, Iodine of Potash, Arsenic, "Physic," "Cathartic" and "Dose" as remedies for blood sickness, but now the pure vegetable S. S. S. is their safeguard.

CHAMBERS' GREAT TEST NOVEL

is "The Business of Life." In the first week of its publication it has attracted more attention than anything America's most popular story teller has ever written. Its triumph is greater than that of any of his previous successes, "The Common Law," "The Fighting Chance" and "The Fighting Line." Already "The girl in armor" is the talk of the town. Have you met her? She is the heroine in Robert W. Chambers' greatest novel, the girl who was forced to decide what for women.

TROJAN VARSITY FACING VITAL SHAKE-UP WEEK.

Coach Higgins to Make Changes in Teams—Looking for Good Drubblers—Backfield Presents a Difficult Problem; Lacks Finish on Offense—Scrubs to Get Big Chance at Last.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

THIS week should be one of vital interest to the members of the U.S.C. football squad and to the followers of the Trojan team as well, for the reason that it is to be the shake-up week. This does not mean that the squad is to be pruned, in regard to numbers as it is the right time now, but there are to be several changes from the varsity to the second team and vice versa.

Coach Higgins has had his optic nerve trained on several of the members of the scrub team and says that he sees some who will bear a few days' variety work. The result of a move like this always tends to bring out some terrible scintillations, as the deposed heroes are willing to commit anything short of murder to regain their berth on the first squad, while the exiled ones from the ranks of the scrubs are just as likely to split a blood vessel to retain their place of honor.

Hard-hearted Hannibal.
This period in a football season always reminds me of the time that Hannibal started out to cross the Alps, and before setting out on that famous march to Rome asked if there were any that desired to turn back. He then burned his ships, of passage and there was nothing left for his men but to go on. Well, this is the parting of the ways for the Trojan football warriors. If they go on there is nothing but hard and bitter work ahead before the big game, but those inclined toward a life of ease can turn here and forever after hold their peace.

Regulars Return.
LeValley Lund is likely to get somebody's place in the scrub, as he has been showing some rare fighting ability and heart of all has an instinct of following the ball, which is all important in the make-up of a forward.

Snappy Scrubs.
Bill Spottis also may appear on the varsity within the next few days. Bill is what is commonly known as a miter and is very valuable when it comes to plunging over the line with the ball. He is, however, new to the game and needs a few more days of training.

Toolbox. Haines, Ellmore, Taylor, Tuckles and Tones form the stone wall for the scrub, and it will take more than good men to displace them. The one thing among the U.S.C. forwards is better dribbling form, but they seem to be grasping the idea more firmly in the last few games, and do not try to kick the ball out of the left Tuckles probably has this department of the game down to the best point at present, and has started and held all the dribbling rushes in the games thus far, but he needs help.

Rushing Erratic.
The back field is still a problem worthy of some thought. This part of the machine is rather shaky. At times the men will get a passing run, but the best defense in the world could not stop them again they seem to go wild and pass without any definite idea as to the ultimate destination of the ball, which, of course, gives rise to all kinds of embarrassing situations and causes our friend Higgins to grow purple with rage. If there is one thing that Pat wants more than another it is to finish in play. But for the benefit of those who don't know, I would like to say that the U.S.C. back field is better today than it has ever been before.

Who Wins.
The three-quarter positions seem to be ably guarded by Shepard and Laird. Both are fast and good ground gainers, and are dangerous when in scoring position. The center three-quarter berth is the big study now. Bacon is going well for the first of the season, but has not shown enough improvement during the past week to please Higgins. Jerry Craig may be shifted from second five to center three, and Bill Haney slipped in at Craig's former place. While on the other hand, Cliff Schwartz, who has been playing a very strong game in the scrub, could be used in the back field, as he has a good kick, but lacks a little of the necessary speed, but it looks as though this element could be developed. Schwartz would make a tower of strength on the defense, in the back field, but would not make as good a ground gainer on the offense as Bill Haney.

Possible Solution.
Karl Haney, the freshman brother, is proving something of a success at first five, but the fact that he is small and holds the ball works against him to some extent. He runs and passes well, but is often smothered by the heavy forwards on the other side. He has never played first five before, always occupying the wing position when in High School.

hold on to the ball too long, but this element of his play is slowly being eradicated.

Don Comes Late.
We must not forget Len Livernash, last year's veteran front raker, and wing three-quarters. Len came to college late, and has not yet rounded into condition, but when he does, should be valuable either in the back or in the back field, as he is aggressive and carries the ball strongly.

Huns Are Radical.
The recent stand taken by the powers of Pomona College in regard to the proposed reforming of the Southern Intercollegiate Conference and the attitude in respect to the makeup of the Pomona varsity teams without freshmen in the future, shows a spirit of true sportsmanship and also shows that the Huns are not afraid to enter the field rather severely handicapped. The scholastic standard of Pomona has always been high and it is all to the credit of the institution that the faculty and students desire to keep it "what it is."

The fact that Pomona is willing to stand or fall by the teams that can be turned out of the men that go to the college because they are students, shows a fine spirit, but I think that it will work a serious hardship on the Pomona varsities.

There is another move that Pomona intends putting into action next season and that is the ruling out of freshmen from intercollegiate games. If all the western colleges would take the same step it would be a great thing—but with Pomona alone setting the pace in the matter, the Blue and White is bound to suffer a great deal.

Stanford has been considering this move for some time and is likely to take steps in this direction at an early date.

American Teams Show.
Occidental and Whittier had their first blowout Saturday. The Tigers showed a little more spirit than was expected, but the big score against Long Beach was probably due to the lack of class on the High School team as much as to anything.

Whittier did not come up to expectations in regard to speed, but still seem to have the forward pass worked at the same high rate of efficiency. The line did not come up to what was thought of it, while the backs were rather loose in their play.

The Tigers are fast, but lack some of the finer elements as yet, due to the fact that Pipal has a bunch of freshmen to whip into shape for his varsity. However, the scrimmage of this week and the game next Saturday should give a better line on what can be expected of the Freshmen in the big games.

Pomona Unknown.
Pomona is a rank dark horse now and the same is true of Redlands, but both these varsities will have shown their hands by this time next week and then the problem will begin to solve into its proper factors.

Rest for Pat's Men.
The Trojans are to have a practice scrimmage with those Mania Arts prep school giants this afternoon, and then the team is to be given a two-day rest, the time being taken up with perfecting of team play and the veloping speed in the backfield. The remainder of the week is to witness the many shakeups mentioned above, and then on Saturday the sound is to be sent against the L.A.C. for a second practice game. In this game the newly-discovered lights, if there be any, will get their chance to shine.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.
Sept. 27.—A big blow was taken off the varsity squad this week. But sixty-seven are left on the list, a decrease from 197. Coach Schaeffer says he needs the room and that he wants to concentrate on a few men.

Harry Dunn, sporting editor of the Daily Californian, and son of Santa Barbara, proposes to establish a breeding ground for "rugby players" by grading a certain portion of the campus not now in use and forming a huge football field out of it. His plan is to have rugby players out the year around and give men unable to make the varsity a chance to develop. The idea has met with approbation of both coaches and students.

Pomona College has been granted a charter of Phi Beta Kappa, the scholarship honor society. Until this charter was granted California and Stanford were the only western colleges having chapters. Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest of all Greek letter fraternities, being founded in 1776.

Basketball training starts next week. Interclass games are scheduled for October.

Prof. Washburn, the California authority on Greek life, stated in a lecture on "Greek Dress" that prevailing fashions were vastly outdone by the ancient Greeks. Split skirts instead of being modern creations find their counterpart in the rectangular strips of cloth worn as skirts by the Grecian women. The "kaps" so much in evidence in the modish gown are echoes of the modish gown of the time when Demosthenes orated.

T. E. Haley and W. H. Gels have been chosen as assistant yell leaders.

Soccer players are getting into trim for a contest with the Barbarians. The game will open the season of association football.

The Glue Club is to tour Southern California during Christmas vacation. Twelve concerts are scheduled between San Francisco and San Diego.

Twelve men are to enter the wrestling contests at the Fortuna Festival in San Francisco. California is to be represented in nearly all of the athletic events to be contested at that time.

The Los Angeles Times

This is the most unique, reliable and thorough-going guide to the building and furnishing of an Ideal Home at small cost that has ever been presented in popular magazine shape.

It is a Home with every advantage—a country house in the city or in the suburbs, as you like. It includes the house, garage, pergolas and gardens, all illustrated and described in every detail.

Leading architects, contractors, horticulturists and decorators have combined to plan and direct the building and beautifying of this Ideal Home to be built at moderate cost. Their ideas expressed in text and picture, including the cover design, showing the house and grounds done in colors, occupy twenty pages of the magazine, designed by J. Manley Rose.

Everything impractical and all excessive costs have been eliminated, and the extremely attractive figure that the home and grounds may be built and laid out for, are not merely the result of the architect's fertile brain. Contractors and builders in all parts of the country have estimated upon the cost of these plans, and the result is given you in this issue in a remarkably effective manner.

Complete Working Plans and Specifications may be procured through this Special Issue. Be sure to get a set and take them to your own architect and have him act as your supervising and erecting architect.

Don't forget the date—October 5th. Better order of your News-dealer today.

CONTENTS

"A Plea for the Detached House"

EDITORIAL
By Aymar Embury II.
One of the Leading Country House Architects of America.

- I. "A COUNTRY HOUSE IN THE CITY"—Illustrated in colors on the front cover, is shown the exterior of the house and grounds, including the garage, costing as follows: House, $3540; Garage, $500; Pergolas, etc., $220; Plants, $175; Grading, etc., $565—$7000 complete.
- II. "THE IDEAL HOME"—Introductory article, in which the ground plan of the house and gardens is shown, and which maps out the entire premises.
- III. "THE IDEAL HOUSE PLAN"—Explaining the interior arrangement with first and second floor plans and illustrations of the Living Room and Dining Room of the Ideal Home.
- IV. "A LIVABLE OUT-OF-DOORS"—Dealing with the outdoor sleeping porch, kitchen yard and vegetable garden, also the rose garden, walks and pergola.
- V. "THE PRACTICAL SIDE OF THE QUESTION"—This concerns the cost of materials and constructions, and so on—and all figures have been carefully verified as to the average cost in any part of the United States.
- VI. "HOW WE DECORATE THE IDEAL HOME"—This important subject receives special attention and is gone into thoroughly. Pictures are shown of the Pergola Porch and the Owner's Bedroom.
- VII. Among the other features that round out this splendid and unique House Building and Furnishing Annual are: "Formality Versus Informality," "The Garage," "The Owner As a Handy Man," "Ideal Bathrooms," "The More Than Practical Casement Window," "A Really Convenient Kitchen," "Heating and Lighting," and "Paint—Indoors and Out."

Viewed from all sides, this is the most complete and attractive panorama of a $7000 house that has ever been assembled between popular magazine covers—and has the added merit of dealing with one house only, and not with a confusing number of houses. It's an issue not only to read now and study, but to lay aside for future reference.

House and garage complete; entire grounds laid out and planted for $7000. Every cost included, except the real estate.

Two Stars Arrive.

Coach Higgins received two more worthy recruits yesterday in the persons of Len Livernash and Parker. Len will be remembered as the lightning front runner of last year and was considered one of the fastest prep school wing three-quarters in the state. If he can speed up to varsity form he should do.

Then there is Shorty Smith of Santa Ana. While he is slated for Oct. 1 at the present time, some think that he may go to Pomona after all. Wherever he goes, he should make good, for he is one whole of a half-back and knows the game well for a High School lad.

He should Worry.

The fact that he has no wonder-ful freshman material this season is not seemingly worrying Stanton to any great extent. He says that he does not like to use freshmen on the varsity teams and considers this somewhat of a drawback this year in regard to Oxy, where over half of the team seems to be coming from the ranks of the freshmen class.

It must be remembered that in the past few years Stanton has only used five freshmen on the Blue and White varsity teams and that during this time he has won three championships, a fairly strong argument, what say you?

The Trojans at War.

The Trojans are going through one of the toughest weeks ever known to a H.S.C. varsity squad at the present time. Yesterday there was an hour and a half of terrible battering scrimmages, in which the varsity squad was pitted against the second team in a battle royal and all that goes with it. The varsity won out by a score of 13 to 1, but it took all they had to turn the trick.

But to return to this hard week. There is to be a scrimmage this afternoon, tomorrow the team is to take on Poly for a little forty-minute struggle. Thursday another first and second team battle is scheduled. Friday the second team is to meet Manual Arts High and Saturday the varsity and L.A.C. squad are scheduled to meet for a hard practice game. The only difference between this game and the match battles that are to follow is that in this game there is no trophy depending on the result.

T.S.T. Varsity Fit.

The Trojan squad is rounding into splendid shape and are at right now to go through a hard game. True all the edges are not smoothed down, but there is a certain fighting spirit and unity of play being developed that counts for about one million per cent. in the long run.

Then he met Frank Wade, the club champion in the final, and achieved the triumph of tying the match over thirty-six holes. After that they tore up the course and turned about for a series of ap- loose on the links, so that this was the first opportunity the finalists have had of settling the possession of that cup. Bell can't parade it with all due unction and I know at least one widow who is more than gratified at the result.

San Gabriel's Aspirations.

By the way, have you noticed how very ambitious San Gabriel is getting? The last two years have witnessed a great access of wealth and prestige to the little club and she has been taking on airs, very considerably lately. First the acquisition of that large tract of new land and the laying out of the new course. Now these luxurious improvements and additions and this glib talk of a majestic new clubhouse. To say nothing of a possible rise in club dues and entrance fees.

As regards the course, I suspect them of laying deep plans for acquir- ing the Southern California cham- pionship meeting in the spring, and are ready to turn their house in readiness. Of course it is likely with their turn. Annandale had the meet- ing in 1911 and the Los Angeles in 1912, but the great thing is that more than a less an influence than that of E. S. Armstrong is being used to obtain the championship event for the Midwest. That may mean the loss of persons they would probably not would be such a splendid opening for the Midwest course, which has no far been slightly—oh, ever so slightly—successful when you date it with all due unction and I know at least one widow who is more than gratified at the result.

Of course it is likely with their turn. Annandale had the meet- ing in 1911 and the Los Angeles in 1912, but the great thing is that more than a less an influence than that of E. S. Armstrong is being used to obtain the championship event for the Midwest. That may mean the loss of persons they would probably not would be such a splendid opening for the Midwest course, which has no far been slightly—oh, ever so slightly—successful when you date it with all due unction and I know at least one widow who is more than gratified at the result.

San Gabriel's Aspirations.

By the way, have you noticed how very ambitious San Gabriel is getting? The last two years have witnessed a great access of wealth and prestige to the little club and she has been taking on airs, very considerably lately. First the acquisition of that large tract of new land and the laying out of the new course. Now these luxurious improvements and additions and this glib talk of a majestic new clubhouse. To say nothing of a possible rise in club dues and entrance fees.

As regards the course, I suspect them of laying deep plans for acquir- ing the Southern California cham- pionship meeting in the spring, and are ready to turn their house in readiness. Of course it is likely with their turn. Annandale had the meet- ing in 1911 and the Los Angeles in 1912, but the great thing is that more than a less an influence than that of E. S. The Ideal Home for $7000

Is Built and Wonderfully Pictured Next Sunday in the

"House Building and Furnishing Annual"

—of the—

SEMI-MONTHLY MAGAZINE

—Section of—

The Los Angeles Times

This is the most unique, reliable and thorough-going guide to the building and furnishing of an Ideal Home at small cost that has ever been presented in popular magazine shape.

It is a Home with every advantage—a country house in the city or in the suburbs, as you like. It includes the house, garage, pergola and gardens, all illustrated and described in every detail.

Leading architects, contractors, horticulturists and decorators have bined to plan and direct the building and beautifying of this Ideal to be built at moderate cost. Their ideas expressed in text and including the cover design, showing the house and grounds, occupy twenty pages of the magazine, designed by a Rose.

Since the poor, dear caddy has come into prominence and the kind folks intend to save at all costs, the lad is in for a uncomfortable time of it. The caddy is a very serious article in the appalling lack of indifference to the average golfer shows toward his caddy's affairs. He is henceforth to be treated as a man and a brother and you should consider your duty incomplete if you do not know his name, age, place of birth, mother's maiden name, father's profession, number of sisters and brothers, and position attained in school. We have already experienced a serious shortage of caddies in the past, but there just simply "ain't going to be no caddies" if the average golfer insists upon being too friendly with the poor little chap. Some caddies are very particular and it isn't fair, just because they have to stoop to earn their living pandering to the incapacity of a person of peculiar tastes, that they should be called upon to enter into more intimate relations with a class of persons they would probably not care to know socially under any conditions whatever. Democracy is all very well, but the caddy's exclusiveness should be respected.

Pity the Poor Caddy.
